COMMISSIONER PLANS TEST CASE IN COURT

BANDITS FIGHT U.S. AIRMEN

One Outlaw Killed Skirmish Dickman Fears Chase Will Be Prolonged

Marfa, Tex., Aug. 20.—Indications here today were that more United States troops will be sent into Mexico if the bandits led by Jesus Rentario, who held up two American army aviators for $15,000 ransom, are not rounded up soon.

The first skirmish between Mexicans and Americans took place about twenty miles south of Marfa, when one bandit was killed and another wounded by machine gun bullets from a United States Army airplane. A report on the brush was made today to Major-General Dickman, commander of the Southern Department, U. S. A., by Colonel G. T. Langhorne, who is directing the movements of the American troops. The horse ridden by the Mexican killed was slain also. The rest of the Mexicans in the band escaped in a canyon.

BANDITS OPENED FIRE.

The observer in the attacked airplane told Colonel Langhorne that the Mexicans had opened fire on the machine and there were several bullet holes in the wings and woodwork.

The troops of the Eighth Cavalry that crossed the border early yesterday are now forty miles south of the international line. As they advance they are aided by airplanes.

Additional cavalry and supplies have reached temporary headquarters at Candelaria.

There are other movements which indicate that the military authorities mean business in their thorough search for the bandits. Hospital supplies and Red Cross men are at Candelaria and the hospital units are ready to go into the field.

Colonel George T. Langhorne, who remained behind when the troops went over the border, is here directing operations. He said that the four troops of the 8th Cavalry would split up into searching parties today.

AIRMEN FLY HIGH.

The airmen who are leading the Americans are forced to fly at a great height because of atmospheric conditions and this has interfered with their work.

Two United States Army bombing airplanes were today ordered from McAllen, Tex., to join the expedition in Mexico. Other planes are being held at McAllen in readiness to leave for the scene of the trouble on short notice.

Two Mexican Federal officers have been removed from their posts at Nuevo Laredo and assigned to posts

MAY ORDER BIG SALE OF FOOD

Immense Supplies Found in Storage; Meat Spirited Out of State

Immense store of butter, cheese and eggs, found in Boston by agents of the Department of Justice, were under investigation today by the special Grand Jury assigned to probe the food situation. In connection with the finding of these stores, a number of prominent cold storage dealers were summoned to appear before the Grand Jury to testify.

According to the officials of the United States District Attorney's office, if it found that these goods are being hoarded, the court can order them distributed and sold in small lots.

Today's hearing was conducted by Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel M. Shea.

Government officials here are seeking to trace 1,000,000 pounds of salt pork which has been held in a Boston storage plant and which, it is claimed, has within a day or so been spirited out of the State to be held until the present high cost of living investigation is ended.

Agents of the Department of Justice are bending every effort to locate the place chosen for hiding this immense quantity of pork and if it is discovered the goods will be seized.

With the seizure of 4,500,000 pounds of sugar found in a Charlestown warehouse it is said that other raids are to follow.

When the Suffolk Grand Jury finishes its inquiry into the high cost of shoes and the alleged scarcity of leather it will take up the food question.

Startling revelations are expected.

ENGLAND TO ECONOMIZE ON AIRSHIP BUILDING

London, Aug. 20.—Owing to the economy campaign, the trans-Atlantic flight of the R-34 probably will be Great Britain's last spectacular airship venture for years. Following the Premier's "Road to Ruin" warning in the House of Commons on Monday, it is understood that the Cabinet took up the questin of airship experiments, deciding this would be a good place to start to economize. Three more giant dirigibles are under construction—the R-36, R-38 and R-39—but it is believed that no more airships will be built for a period of at least four years.

Declares Justice to Erin Sacrificed by 'League'

ARTICLE NO. 4

IRELAND AND THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS—NATIONALISM VS. INTERNATIONALISM

By EDWARD F. McSWEENEY,

Member of the Advisory Committee of the Irish Victory Fund and National Officer Friends of Irish Freedom.

The members of the Irish race in America, citizens of this country, have been severely criticised and condemned by those attendants upon the "throne of administration" because of their opposition to the League of Nations covenant. One would be tempted to believe that the sole opposition to the covenant came from that racial group. Assuming that to be true, which it is not, then America is fortunate in having within her confines over 15,000,000 of that race, who are awake to America's danger and who are fighting as ever to preserve her independence and maintain her institutions.

Senator Phelan of California is reported to have said in the Senate while arguing for the adoption of the league:

> "If an Irishman tells me that he would put Irish independence before the spectacle of a world bathed again in blood, the loss again of millions of lives and the hunger, disease, privations, sufferings and torture inflicted upon millions more, then I would say he has forfeited generous consideration by an exhibition of unutterable selfishness."

If justice to Ireland, or justice to the world requires further sacrifice of any kind, and that justice is sacrificed

CHARGE WOMAN ESCAPED AFTER AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Bolling of Philadelphia Fined in Lynn Court and Appeals

Mrs. Ethel N. Bolling, a Philadelphia beauty, wife of Jewett Bolling, of Sherman avenue, that city, was fined $10 today in Lynn court on a charge of injuring property without making known her identity. She pleaded not guilty.

According to the charge, Mrs. Bolling, while driving her car yesterday, collided with a coal team, knocking the driver from his seat and driving on without stopping. Mrs. Bolling testified that she attempted to adjust matters with the driver but that he was so profane she declined to talk with him further. She said that she intended to report the matter herself to the police, but that she had several calls to make first and was arrested before she had finished her social engagements.

ARMENIANS "LURED" INTO GIVING BY PICNIC

West Boylston, Aug. 20.—Sarkis Sarkisian, Pioneer Farm, Wood street, is the busiest man in town since the money started rolling in for the relief of the starving women and children in Armenia. The money was given by Armenians of the district at his farm, the total being $1,700. Sarkisian and son conceived the idea he could raise money by inviting his people to the farm for a picnic and then taking up a collection.

KOLCHAK TAKES NEW STAND IN SIBERIA

Suffers Heavy Losses in Equipment, General Graves, U. S. A., Reports

Washington, Aug. 20.—A ray of hope that the Kolchak government may yet survive, is contained in a dispatch received here from Major General William S. Graves, in command of American troops in Siberia, it was learned this afternoon.

General Graves has advised Washington officials that in the retreat of 600 miles the Kolchak losses in men were not large, although a vast amount of equipment was lost and morale was badly shattered.

However, the withdrawal of five divisions by the Bolsheviki from the Ural front has left the Kolchak army within force equal to that of the Reds, and Kolchak, his lines shortened, has taken a stand behind impenetrable marshes south of and midway between Sartov and Uralsk.

3-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED BY WORCESTER CAR

Worcester, Aug. 20.—Erick Hjalmer, three years old, was instantly killed at Barber's Crossing by a trolley car today while playing in front of his home, No. 10 Goswold street. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hjalmer. The body was badly crushed.

PRESIDENT CHANGES STAND

Now Approves Substance of "Mild Reservations" on Peace Treaty

Washington, Aug. 20.—President Wilson has given his approval of the substance of the reservations urged by the group of Republican "mild reservationists," Senator Pittman, administration Democrat and member of the Foreign Relations Committee, declared this afternoon in the Senate.

In stating to the committee at the White House yesterday that he had no objection to "interpretations" if they are not embodied in the resolution by which the Senate will ratify the treaty of Versailles, the President "has met the reservationist more than half way," Senator Pittman said.

The Nevada senator submitted a draft of the reservations he indicated would be satisfactory to the President.

The reservations, incorporated in a Senate resolution intended to be separate textually from that of the ratification, were prepared by Pittman after he conferred with the President. Pittman's action was regarded as the latest move by the administration forces to expedite ratification of the treaty.

LODGE STANDS FIRM.

Senators Lodge, Knox and other Republican Senators were quick to declare that they would continue to insist upon reservations being incorporated in the resolution of ratification despite the President's objection to such a course.

Pittman's resolution, however, was designed to develop a lineup between those Senators willing to accept the President's suggestion of "interpretations" and those who advocated the adoption of reservations as a direct part of the ratification.

The Pittman resolution was as follows:

"That when the Senate of the United States shall advise and consent to the ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany signed at Paris on the 28th day of June, 1919, now pending in the Senate, that it be

$25,000 NEWPORT SUIT IN IRISH CONTROVERSY

Newport, R. I., Aug. 20.—Papers in a $25,000 civil suit for damages have been served upon Arthur J. Moulton of New York, who is spending the summer here. The suit is brought by J. S. O'Brien, through his counsel, Frank F. Nolan, claiming damages as a result of the recent publication of a letter in which the writer defended the stand taken by the Rev. C. E. Silcox in his sermon on the question of Ireland, at the same time commenting on Mr. O'Brien, who replied to the clergyman.

SWINDLERS GET $2,555 FROM WOMAN

Worked 'Real Estate Deal" and Gave Her $10,000 in Gold" That Proved to Be Brass

A new form of an old swindle was explained to the police today by Mrs. Sarah Katz of Phillips street, West End, who asked them to locate four men who secured $2,555 from her.

According to her story, one of the men visited her some days ago and interested her in a real estate deal involving the development of land. On the following day he called again, with another man, and the day afterward two additional confederates appeared.

The woman said she drew her money from the bank and gave it to them, accepting as security a tin cash box which they claimed contained $10,000 in gold. They even opened the box, which contained rolls of what she believed to be gold coins wrapped in tissue paper. The men broke out one of these rolls and showed her a gold piece, and the woman was convinced.

Mrs. Katz said she became nervous when twenty-four hours passed with no word from the self-styled real estate man. She went to the home of her son, carrying the cash box, and told him the story. He at once opened the box and discovered that it was filled with rolls of brass discs, valued at about twenty cents.

Inspectors Darcy and McCarthy were assigned to the case and believe they have a clue to the identity of one of the men.

OPPOSE LLOYD GEORGE'S COAL PURCHASE PLAN

London, Aug. 20.—Premier Lloyd George's proposal for the state purchase of mineral rights in the coal fields is not satisfactory to the miners, according to a statement by Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Federation, printed in the Daily Express today. The Premier, according to Hodges, proposes the unification of the mine fields into ten great trusts.

"Hostility of the miners will obviously be intensified when it comes to dealing with trusts," said the union official. "I think the proposal will be ruled out by the workers themselves." John R. Clynes, a Laborite and former food controller, also believes that the government's coal scheme is unsatisfactory.

CITY ORDERS 1,406 MORE CASES OF CANNED GOODS

The city of Boston has placed an additional order for 1,406 cases of canned vegetables, which will be on sale tomorrow at the various distribution stations. City Purchasing Agent Thomas W. Dawson announced today that the army officials sent 2,574 more cases of vegetables to the stations previously than was ordered, but as all of it was sold the incident is closed.

BATHER'S PARADE OFF; 'TWAS BIT TOO CHILLY

Fairhaven, Aug. 20.—The bathing suit parade that was to have been held in connection with a water carnival at Fort Phoenix this afternoon was postponed indefinitely. Thomas W. Whitfield, chairman of the committee arranging for the carnival, says the parade will take place as soon as the weather man can furnish a little warmth and sunshine.

CHAMBER BACKS POLICE HEAD

Developments came fast in the Boston police labor situation today. Chief of all was the summoning before the chief officials of the department of eight men who are leaders in the union.

They were asked eight pertinent questions, and, if they were answered truthfully, there remains no other step for Commissioner Curtis than the suspension of these men.

The questions asked were:

Your name?

How long have you been a member of the department?

Did you recently join an organization outside the police department?

Was it known as a labor union?

Were you active in its formation?

When did you first hear of it?

Where was this organization discussed, whether in the station house or on the street or on your own time or while on duty?

Did you know that Rule 35 of the Police Manual had recently been amended?

Following their meeting with Commissioner Curtis the members of the special committee of the Boston City Council went into executive session at City Hall.

Subsequently they announced that Commissioner Curtis, while a believer in the principles of organized labor, is unalterably opposed to the formation of a union within the ranks of the police department.

And being so opposed he is going to enter at once into a test of strength with the union. In other words suspensions or dismissals can be immediately expected.

Mr. Curtis, according to Councillor McDonald, regards the police officers as State officials and as such considers them subject to the State alone and ineligible to membership in a union.

BACKED BY CHAMBER.

Commissioner Curtis received support from another quarter today when the Boston Chamber of Commerce announced its intentions of supporting him in his fight against a union within the ranks of the department. They addressed him a letter to that effect and

GEORGIA OFFICIALS TAKE 20,000 POUNDS OF SUGAR

Atlanta, Georgia, Aug. 20.—Internal revenue collectors have just announced that many thousand pounds of sugar have been libeled throughout Georgia, and that 20,000 pounds have already been seized. Most of this sugar has been stored to make moonshine whiskey. The seizures were made at Columbus, Tate, Bait Ground, Gainesville and Canton.

PLANT STRIKERS TO HEAR MISS O'CONNOR

LYNN POLICE TRAIL KIDNAPERS OF GIRL

Telling a story of having been kidnaped, held for [illegible] days in a Saugus cabin, and attacked by two of the [illegible] inmates, fourteen-year-old Mary Pastorelli of No. 68 Leverett street, Boston, today staggered into the Lynn police station almost dead from exhaustion. Two strong police detachments, directed by Deputy Chief Edward Callahan, immediately began a search of the wooded country in the vicinity, and as the story spread were joined by civilians.

FINED FOR ASSAULT ON PUGILIST POLICEMAN

In South Boston Court today Mathew Happeney of Boston street was convicted of assault and battery on Patrolman Florence O'Reagan of the Athens street station and a fine of $30 was imposed. He appealed. On an additional charge of drunkenness he was fined $5. O'Reagan was formerly middleweight amateur boxing champion of New England.

GEN. DICKMAN REGRETS MATLACK EXPLOIT IN CHEATING BANDITS

BELIEVES THAT IT MAY TEND TO PROLONG PURSUIT

in the interior of Mexico it was announced today. They are Carlos Charles, chief immigration officer, who is succeeded by Alfonso Acosta, and Jose Colbay, agent of the department of ministry, succeeded by Sotero Figueroa. No reason was given for the changes.

Orders were issued late last night at San Antonio by the headquarters of the Southern Department of the army doubling the airplane force which is leading the four troops of the 8th Cavalry in pursuit of the bandit gang. At dawn eight big machines carrying machine guns were with the cavalry force.

One flier returned to Marfa with the wing of his machine pierced by two bullets from a Mexican rifle. The American flyer said he had turned his machine gun on the bandits, but was unable to say whether he had killed or wounded any of them.

60 IN BANDIT GANG.

It was reported to the headquarters of the Southern Department that Rentaria had about 60 men with him. An unconfirmed report received by a cattle company placed the number of Rentaria's men at 100. All were said to be well armed, and some were former followers of Francisci Villa.

Major General Joseph T. Dickman, the department commander and former commander of the American Army of Occupation in Germany, arrived at Del Rio, and sent word that he was ready to come to Marfa at once if his services were needed there.

Army men are inclined to believe that the bandits when they saw they had been tricked out of $6500 realized that trouble was brewing and fled to the hills.

IN WILD COUNTRY.

That part of Mexico in which the chase is now in progress is about the wildest along the frontier. It is covered with hundreds of crags and canyons interspersed with tracts of desert. The Mexicans are familiar with the few trails that have been made through the district.

Unless the Mexicans come out and give battle to the cavalry they will be hard to find hidden in the fastnesses of the Sierra Madre mountains.

The Rio Grande and Rio Conchos meet near Ojinaga. The Conchos flows through San Juan Pass and it was below this rugged spot in the farmlands that the cavalry encamped last night. The troops slept in the dark to keep the Mexicans from locating them at their camp fires.

General Dickman before leaving San Antonio for Del Rio seemed much concerned over the border trouble, although he characterized it as "only slightly disturbing as yet."

General Dickman expressed regret that Captain Leonard Matlack, the cavalry officer who went to pay the $15,000 ransom for Lieutenant H. G. Peterson and Lieutenant Paul H. Davis, did not carry out the army's agreement to pay the full sum but fled after paying only part of it.

The Southern Department has been informed that the Mexicans are not only well equipped with high-powered rifles, but have plenty of ammunition. Both Lieutenant Peterson and Lieutenant Davis said that the band was plentifully supplied with food.

MATLACK PAID $8,500.

With the arrival at Marfa late yesterday of H. M. Fennell, with that part of the $15,000 ransom money saved by Captain Matlack when he outwitted the bandits and rescued Lieutenant Davis without paying the entire $15,000 demanded, it was learned that Captain Matlack inadvertently paid the bandits $8,500 for the release of Lieutenant Peterson instead of $7,500 as was first reported.

Governor Hobby, expecting an early crisis, has instructed the Adjutant-General's department to double its efforts in placing the Texas National Guard of 16,000 men in such shape as to meet any emergency.

Adjutant-General James A. Harley is in North Texas to assist in rapid recruiting to full war strength of the 2nd Texas Brigade, and Brigadier-General J. F. Wolters of Houston, commanding the 2nd Texas Brigade of Cavalry, is conducting similar work in South Texas.

Assistant Adjutant General W. D. Cope, who is in charge of the adjutant-general's department during the absence of General Harley, said that while the department had not received any official information direct from Washington, the instructions given by Governor Hobby is construed to mean that orders would soon be issued from Washington to send the Texas soldiers to the border.

The Texas Guard consists of two brigades of cavalry and one brigade of infantry.

Pursuit of Outlaws Into Mexico Justified by the War Department

By Universal Service.

Washington, Aug. 20.—American troops are in Mexico in pursuit of the bandits who captured and released, on payment of $7,500 ransom, Lieutenants Davis and Peterson of the United States Army Air Service.

Official announcement that units of the Eighth Cavalry had crossed the Rio Grande near Candelaria, under orders from the War Department, has been made.

The bandits rendezvous, where they held the American army officers, is near Candelaria.

The War Department also officially announced the release of the two lieutenants.

PURSUIT JUSTIFIED.

The pursuit of the outlaws into Mexican territory was justified at the War and State Departments on the traditional right of one country to enter another when following criminals on a "hot trail."

The fact that the prisoners were shrewdly brought back to the border by the bandits makes an old trail a very hot one, and it now remains to be seen whether the entrance into Mexico by United States forces was communicated in any official way to the Mexican government.

There is no information here as to what attitude Carranza will assume when he learns that the cavalry troops have crossed the border. The question of the "hot trail" was discussed at great length following the Columbus raid by Mr. Arredondo, Carranza's ambassador here, and Frank L. Polk, then counsellor of the State Department, who is now chairman of the American peace delegation in Paris.

So far as known there is no written agreement on the subject. If the present situation should develop to the point of forcing military intervention by the United States, the invading forces would be seriously handicapped by a lack of adequate aircraft, according to Brigadier General William Mitchell, head of the army air service.

AIR SERVICE TOO SMALL.

General Mitchell told the House Rules committee that the air service is too small "even to maintain an expedition into Mexico." He said:

"If we go to Mexico now, we have the skeleton of seventeen squadrons. Twelve hundred officers are not sufficient to keep them up. We need twice as many. This number is even too small to maintain an expedition into Mexico."

This revelation of conditions in the air service created great surprise among members of the committee. Representative Rodenberg, Republican of Illinois, said:

"With the possibility of trouble with Mexico, I think we should keep aviation up to a high state of efficiency."

Other members of the committee concurred in this view.

Chairman Kahn of the Military Affairs Committee, who was present at the hearing, interposed that Major-General Menoher, chief of the aviation bureau of the War Department, had testified before his committee that after spending $1,500,000,000 the army had nothing but junk in the way of aircraft.

Chairman Campbell of the Rules Committee added that "Now they are junking highly trained officials."

BAKER'S STATEMENT.

In announcing that troops had been ordered to cross the border, Secretary Baker made this verbal statement:

"When the report came of the capture of these two officers and their being held for ransom, the hour of their execution was fixed on the next day in default of ransom being paid. There was, of course, no opportunity to make a military rescue within such time and I therefore, directed that the ransom money be paid and that a force be arranged to take up the hot trail of the bandits and pursue them with the hope of being able to capture as many as possible of the perpetrators of this wrong.

"I understand from the newspapers that the captured officers have been released and returned to this country and no doubt the attempt to follow the hot trail has been arranged in accordance with the directions given by me."

Full information on the policy pursued by the administration in cases of Americans being kidnaped and held for ransom by Mexicans is asked of the State Department in a resolution introduced in the House today by Representative La Guardia, Republican, of New York.

The resolution also inquires if any action has been taken to bring the kidnaping cases to the attention of the Mexican government and whether "any form of retaliatory measures have been suggested" to Carranza.

Col. Langhorne Confirms Report of Mexicans Firing on American Airplane

Washington, Aug. 20.—Confirmation of press dispatches that an American observation plane was fired on by Mexican bandits was received at the War Department today in a dispatch from Colonel Langhorne at Marfa, Tex. It was stated that the dispatch was the only one received at the department from the border up to noon. It follows:

"Observation plane returning here today reported having seen three bandits about ten miles west of Candelaria. Bandits fired on plane. Fire returned and aviators believed one horse and one bandit killed and another bandit took to a nearby canyon, his riderless horse escaping. Both wings of plane show bullet holes."

CONCEAL BIG QUANTITY OF SALT PORK

4,000,000 Pounds Spirited Out of State, Federal Sleuths Claim

it is stated, and indictments of some Boston dealers in foodstuffs may follow.

John J. Barr, counsel for the Graham Shoe Company, Arthur O. Walton of Chelsea, shoe manufacturer, and Alfred L. Lincoln, also a shoe manufacturer, testified before the jury.

Activities of government agents today are to be confined to butter, cheese and eggs.

According to information gathered by agents of the Bureau of Investigation on August 9 there were in the big storage plants of Boston about 16,000,000 pounds of butter. This is about 3,000,000 more than were in storage a year ago.

Figures taken just a week later—on August 16—showed that the butter supply of the city had been increased by 1,000,000 pounds, or to a total of 17,000,000 pounds. This was compared with 13,000,000 pounds on August 16, 1918.

On the same date, August 16, eggs in storage here were 13,657,000, as against 13,591,000 a year ago.

4,301,000 POUNDS OF CHEESE.

Last Saturday there were in warehouses 4,301,000 pounds of cheese, compared with nearly a million pounds less last year at this time—3,683,000 pounds.

Representatives of the biggest wholesale grocery establishments and candy manufacturers in New England have been served with subpoenas calling for their attendence as witnesses before the grand jury.

The Federal Grand Jury today continued to cross-examine wholesale sugar dealers. It was stated that the owner of the 4,500,000 pounds of sugar seized yesterday at the Mystic Terminal and Railroad Warehouse plant in Charlestown was the Commercial Union of New York. An executive of the company with legal counsel of the firm of Eaton & McKnight, called on United States District Attorney Thomas J. Boynton today and was told he had until September 2 to file an answer as to why the sugar should not be confiscated and sold.

Sale of Army Canned Goods in Boston Is Discontinued Temporarily

The sale of army canned goods will be discontinued temporarily after next Friday, when the women in charge of the food stations over the city will be given a vacation until after Labor Day. These women volunteered their services for the work. Many of them are tired out after their exertions, and as they had planned vacations before the sales were decided upon, Miss Mary A. Barr, chairman of the Women's Committee for Public Service, has announced the temporary halt.

A last distribution of food will be held at 10 o'clock Friday. The following stations will be open:

South Boston Municipal Building; No. 227 Bowdoin street, Codman square and St. Ambrose Parish Hall, Dorchester, Brighton Town Hall; Hull, Farragut, Lowell, Sherwin and Comins schools, Roxbury; Municipal Building, Ward 12; Cushman School, North End; Blackston School, West End, and Assumption School, East Boston. At 1 o'clock Friday sales will be made at the Daughters of the Nation Hall, No. 1841 Center street, West Roxbury, and the Charlestown High School.

Seven Truck Loads of Garden Products at East Boston Market

The East Baton municipal markets opened at 6 a. m. today in Central square, East Boston, under direction of Deputy Superintendent Peter J. Connolly. Seven truck loads of garden products were on hand, being brought by farmers from North Reading, Concord Junction, Lynnfield Centre and Tewksbury. The sale will continue every Wednesday until further notice.

The following prices prevailed:

New potatoes, 65 cents per peck; corn 15-20 cents per dozen; cabbage, 2½ cents per pound; beets, three bunches for 10 cents; cut beets, 2 cents per pound; carrots, three bunches for 10 cents; cut carrots, 3 cents per pound; apples, 30-50 cents per peck; cauliflower, 20 cents; pears 60 cents per peck; radishes, 2-3 cents per bunch; Winter squash, 2 cents per pound; Summer squash, 3-5 cents each; plums, 10 cents per quart; peaches, 7-10 cents per quart.

Mr. Connolly also wishes to announce, through the American, that the Dorchester market, opening Friday, will be removed from Gibson street to Bowdoin street, near Hancock, opposite the City Yard.

Delivery of Army Food by Parcel Post Is Already Under Way

Delivery of army canned goods ordered by parcel post began today. Mail trucks began transporting the foodstuffs from the army stores in South Boston to the twenty-three branch postoffices in Boston, where the purchasers called in person and took their orders away.

The deliveries will continue for the remainder of the week. Orders will be taken today and tomorrow, notwithstanding the previous announcement that they would be halted tonight. On Friday and Saturday no orders will be accepted, the postoffice employes using the time to check up.

The taking of orders will be resumed Monday and continue until the army supplies are exhausted.

A short list of goods which are sold out includes cherries, lemon and vanilia extract, ginger and condensed milk.

10,000-Mile Flight to Japan Planned By D'Annunzio

Milan, Italy, Aug. 20.—Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italy's poet-aviator, plans to leave home early in October as the leader of a squadron of five airplanes on a 10,000-mile flight, his ultimate destination being Tokio.

He hopes to cover the route in twelve flying days, touching Saloniki, Aleppo, Bagdad, Delhi, Agra, Benares, Hangoon, Bangcock, Hanoi, Canton, Kiauchow, Peking and Osaki.

Two machines in the squadron will carry three pilots, the others two. All will be equipped with parachutes and other safety and rescue devices.

WILSON MEETS 'MILD' DEMANDS ON TREATY

ise with and in consideration of the following understanding as to the present and future construction and interpretation to be given to the treaty:

First, that whenever the two years' notice of withdrawal from the League of Nations shall have been given by any member of the league, as provided in Article I, the government giving such notice shall be the sole judge whether all its international obligations and all its obligations under the covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of withdrawal.

FOR SEPARATE ACTION.

Second, that the suggestion of the council of the League of Nations as to the means of carrying into effect the obligations of Article 10, the execution of which may require the use of military or naval forces or economical measures, can only be carried out through the voluntary separate action of each of the respective governments, members of the league, and that the failure of any such government to adopt the suggestions of the council of the league or to provide such military or naval forces or economical measures shall not constitute a moral or legal violation of the treaty.

Third, that all domestic and political questions relating to the internal affairs of any government, which is a member of the league, including immigration, coastwise traffic, the tariff and commerce, are solely within the jurisdiction of such government, and are not by covenant of the League of Nations submitted in any way either to arbitraton or to the consideration of the council or assembly of the League of Nations, or to the decision or recommendations of any other power.

CURTIS IS READY TO OUST UNION POLICEMEN

Commissioner Questions Eight Leaders; Backed by Chamber of Commerce

sent one along similar lines to Governor Coolidge. They requested the Governor to take every necessary step to support the commissioner in this fight.

In his communication to Governor Coolidge President MacComber of the chamber stated that the announced intention of 88,000 to join in a sympathetic strike with the policemen in the event of a strike merely indicated what might be expected of the police at a later date when some other crafts engaged in a strike.

STATEMENT BY COUNCIL.

The City Council committee issued the following statement:

"The committee of the City Council appointed at yesterday's meeting had a conference with the police commissioner this morning in regard to the police situation. The committee was received by the commissioner with courtesy and they presented their views as to the right of the men in the department to organize in a labor union.

"The commissioner, while admitting the right of all employes to organize and indorsing the aims and objects of labor unions in general, holds that police officers are not employes in the ordinary sense of the word but they are public officials of the State of Massachusetts, and, in his opinion, membership in a labor organization is not compatible with their duty to the people and State as such officials.

"He further stated that the question as to whether the police officers were employes or public officials would probably be determined by the courts and if the decision was adverse to his contention of the course the rule he had promulgated would not be legal and a any man discharged for its violations would be reinstated."

The patrolmen interviewed at police headquarters today were: John F. McInnes of City Hall avenue, president of the union; John F. Whitten, Roxbury Crossing, vice-president; O'Hare, East Boston; King, Dudley street; Willis, Roxbury Crossing; Garrity, City Hall avenue, and Burke, Back Bay.

These men were closeted, individually, with Commissioner Curtis and Superintendent Crowley. Just what took place is not known. The patrolmen declined to discuss the matter involved, and the superiors likewise were mum.

When the patrolmen left the "hill" the City Council committee, headed by Councilman Daniel McDonald of the Allied Printing Trades Council, went into conference with the commissioner. Other members of the committee were Councillors Watson, Donoghue, Moriarty and Lane. They did not all arrive at the same time.

BOTH SIDES FIRM.

The situation today is more tense than at any time since the opening of the troubles. It is felt that when rollcall comes tonight, Mr. Curtis will take drastic action. It is not believed that he will recede from his already announced position. Nor will the patrolmen change their attitudes.

The impression exists that the men called to headquarters today are all officers of the union. As yet it is impossible to secure a list of officers elected yesterday. There is to be a general meeting in Fay Hall tonight and, following that meeting, it is expected that the names of the newly elected officers and a definite statement of principles will be forthcoming.

The existing list of eligible candidates for appointment to the force contains about 350 names. The sergeants of the several stations wherein these candidates live, are today investigating these men to determine their fitness for appointment. It is thought that if trouble develops Mr. Curtis will announce the appointment of these men.

Five-Cent Fare on One "L" Line Saturday

Five-cent fare on one line of the Elevated will begin on Saturday morning, August 23, according to a statement issued today by Acting General Manager Edward Dana. This line will operate between the North Station and Franklin and Washington streets, returning via Franklin, Federal, Congress, State, Devonshire, Washington and Canal streets.

The cars will be run on a five-minute headway from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. on weekdays only. They will be marked plainly on both dashboards and on the sides: "Fare 5 cents—no transfers," and will carry destination signs.

5,735 TONS OF SUGAR ON WAY TO BOSTON

A large portion of the immense amount of raw Cuban sugar which is to be sent to the United States out of the new crop is coming to Boston. Two big consignments are already on the way and others will follow as rapidly as steamers become available to load.

The American steamer Pope is expected to arrive from Banes with 5,000,000 pounds consigned to the Revere Sugar Refining Company and the Corrales is on the way from Trinidad with 2,735 tons of sugar for the American Sugar Refining Company. The latter will be due here August 25.

SPIRIT OF GIRL TRIES TO GUIDE FATHER TO HER HIDDEN BODY

CRIME IS TOLD IN DREAM

Parents of Hazel Crance Believe Mystery Is Near End; Fether Is Freed

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 20.—A dream that Hazel Crance was murdered and that her body is hidden beneath a pile of stones is today regarded by many as a possible solution of the mystery, in which Donald H. Fether, a Cornell student, stands accused of killing the girl by drowning.

Fether was excoriated by Supreme Court Justice Kiley at Cazenovia in his review of the case at the opening of a hearing on the writ of habeas corpus applied for by counsel for Fether.

"Although from what I know of the case," said Justice Kiley, "this young man deserved some days in jail. The evidence of the trousers found in the lake is insufficient to hold him on this charge.

"No matter what the outcome of this may be, he certainly has no reason for being proud. He has proved himself no hero, for the girl died and he lived.

"With the body not found, it cannot be assumed on what evidence is here presented that a crime has been committed."

SAYS HE'S NOT A QUITTER.

Following his release, Fether said: "My mother is waiting for me at Ithaca. I knew I would be vindicated. I am not yellow, neither am I a quitter. I shall stay in Ithaca for several weeks, just to show that I fear neither sentiment nor threats of violence."

Attorney John D. Collins, retained by District-Attorney Adams as special counsel for the prosecution, announced that despite Fether's release under the charge of murder, the student cannot go away, as he is out on bail and awaiting examination on the charge of having liquor in his possession on the night of the tragedy.

Robert Crance, father of the dead girl, told today of the dream in which his daughter was alleged to have appeared to a girl friend.

"I'm not a dreamer, but I believe there is something in this one," said Chance, who is a tall, rugged, sun-browned man of the mountaineer type, with a reputation for strength and agility, although fifty years old.

MESSAGE TO FATHER.

"This girl was a friend of my daughter," he added. "She said Hazel appeared to her in a dream, dressed all in white, and said: 'I have been killed. Tell father I haven't been able to appear to him yet. Tell him to stop spending money to drag the lake. My body is not there. I was taken ashore near Maplewood, and was left in a dying condition under a pile of rocks.

"'I will appear to father before the week is out and tell where my body is, if it hasn't been found by then. Tell him not to try to take vengeance himself, but let the law take its course.'

"That's why I'm afraid to look at this fellow Father very much. I'm afraid I'd jump at him and wring his neck, because I believe he killed my little girl.

"When Hazel was a little bit of a thing I dreamed one night that I saw her dead in the water, with her clothes torn and her body bruised.

"That dream pursued me for several nights in one form or another, with Hazel always dead, but I was afraid to tell her mother about it because I knew it would worry her.

HAD DREAM AGAIN.

"After that I was always afraid to have her go near the water anywhere, and Hazel and her mother used to make fun of me for it. A few nights before she went canoeing with Fether I had that dream again. This is the first time I have told anybody about it."

Search for the body of Miss Crance was continued today. Divers will be employed several days to search the bed of the lake in the vicinity of the tragedy.

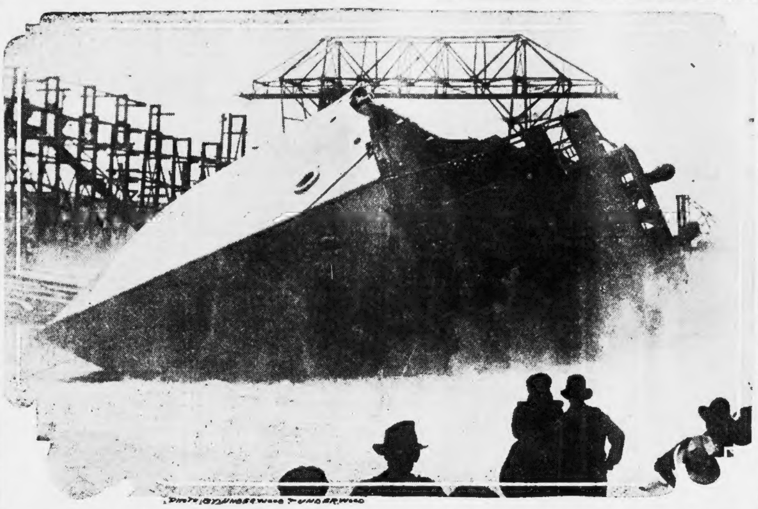
THE MOST REMARKABLE SHIP LAUNCHING IN HISTORY



Launching of the Lake Fugard, one of the last of the Emergency Fleet vessels at Buffalo, with engines and boilers installed and steam already up. Photo shows the vessel tipped to the extraordinary angle of 73.8 degrees. In less than seven seconds, aided by the rebounding waters in Narrows S slip, it righted itself. A ship usually capsizes if it tips to an angle of 60 degrees. It is the first time a finished ship has successfully gone down the ways after a drop of 23 feet from the top of the ways.

GIRL TRIES TO END LIFE ON CHURCH STEPS

Drinks Iodine When Man Refuses to Give Her His Name

New York, Aug. 20.—Kneeling on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral, a young woman who said she was Mrs. Rosina Gonzolas Garmarra of Garfield, N. J., today attempted suicide by drinking iodine. She was discovered by Patrolman John Drauback, who says Mrs. Garmarra dropped the bottle as he approached.

Patrolman Drauback stopped a passing taxicab and took the woman to the station, where she was attended by Dr. Spivak of Bellevue. The surgeon said that only a few drops had been swallowed, and that her condition was not serious.

Mrs. Garmarra explained that last December she met a man, with whom she lived as his wife. They had never been legally married and it was his refusal to marry her that prompted her to attempt suicide, she added.

According to the police, the young woman told of meeting the man last Sunday night and again pleading with him to marry her, but he refused and she decided to end her life.

Mrs. Garmarra first told the police that the man informed her he had become too prominent to continue his association with her, explaining that he had grown out of her class.

WILSON'S TOUR MAY BE LONG DELAYED

Washington, Aug. 20.—The date upon which President Wilson will start his proposed speaking tour now depends to a great extent upon how soon the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate reports the peace treaty, it was said in White House circles today.

The President was represented as being unwilling to leave Washington until the treaty is about to be reported out of the committee, and as being concerned over any unnecessary delay in that direction.

It was stated that if Senator Knox reflected the disposition of the entire membership of the committee when he said that the treaty probably would remain in committee for several weeks, there was a possibility that the President would not get away for some time.

U.S. Army Blankets in Quincy Are Only $5.25 Each

Army blankets now being sold at the Boston army supply base at $6 each on the cash and carry plan, are to be disposed of in Quincy for $5.25 each, on the Adams Academy grounds on Friday.

The difference of 75 cents in cost here and there is explained by Quincy city officials to be owing to the purchase in bale lots of 500 blankets, which are to be retailed to the public at cost—$5.25. This is said to be the cost per blanket in bales.

Quincy expects to have no trouble selling all the blankets together with army canned goods to the total value of $5,000. Included in the lot is 500 cans of peas, 300 of tomatoes and corned beef in three sizes.

Next week cans of bacon, sugar in large quantities, ham and tea obtained from the army supply base is to be placed on sale.

DISMISSAL OF ARMY MEN IS TAKEN UP

Col. Herringshaw Here From Washington to Handle Motor Case

Colonel W. T. Herringshaw of Washington, D. C., was at army headquarters today investigating the discharge of eighteen men from the Motor Transport Corps from the garage at No. 20 Malvern street, Allston.

The men were discharged a few days ago from service by Captain Charles A. Bixby for insubordination. Four appeared at army headquarters and submitted the case to Major-General C. R. Edwards. General Edwards told them he would leave the settlement of their cases with Colonel Herringshaw.

When the colonel was asked today about the matter he replied: "This difficulty will be settled without doubt. It is a matter of handling men. I have felt all along that the whole thing will be cleared up before I go back to Washington."

"Will the men be restored to duty?" was asked.

"I do not know about this, as I've not seen the men, but the men will not be overlooked and in all probability they may be taken into service again. There is nothing definite about this now."

General Edwards explained the situation today by saying: "I think the men will go back to their old positions as soon as vacancies are made for them."

ASKS LONG TO SOLVE 'L' PROBLEM

William F. Fitzgerald Writes to Candidate for Democratic Nomination of Governor

William F. Fitzgerald, chairman of the prosperity committee of the Democratic State Committee, called upon Richard H. Long, Democratic candidate for Governor, to explain his plan for the solution of the troubles of the Boston Elevated Railway today, in a letter which he made public.

Pointing out the great need for such a solution, Fitzgerald wrote to Mr. Long:

"As chairman of the prosperity committee of the Democratic State Committee, I would ask you to show publicly what plan you would have offered as the solution of the Boston Elevated troubles. It is by bringing these things singly before our people that it will be possible to make Massachusetts safe for investors.

"New England offers a most wonderful opportunity for capital and it is for the voter to determine whether it is safe to invest here or not. If you would take one problem at a time and show how you would solve it the voters would have an opportunity to act with intelligence.

"The situation in New England is very dangerous, and publicity is the only method by which relief can be had. If you have plans that mean prosperity for our people you should make them known."

IRENE CASTLE DENIES SECRET WEDDING

Ithaca, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Robert E. Treman, who was formerly Irene Castle, the famous dancer and screen star, emphatically denied today rumors that she had married her present husband, Captain Treman, three months after her first husband, Vernon Castle, was killed in an airplane accident in Texas.

When told of a story printed in New York newspapers declaring she had gone through a secret ceremony with Captain Treman at Greenville, S. C., on May 21, 1918, Mrs. Treman declared it was "Absolutely false."

Roper Estate Inventoried

An inventory of the estate of Mrs. Minnie A. Roper of Lowell, who died April 5, 1919, has been filed. The estate is valued at $18,875.51; $8,375.51 in personal property and $10,500 in real estate.

RECURRENCE OF INFLUENZA IS EXPECTED

Boston Physicians Are Advised to Take Unusual Precautions

A recurrence of influenza is expected this Fall, according to M. Victor Safford, acting city health commissioner, who has sent a circular to Boston physicians advising them to take unusual precautions to prevent another epidemic. He points out that the return of soldiers, economizing in food and disturbed conditions of transportation make it more important than ever to use vigilance.

The letter follows:

"At this season of the year, coincident with the advent of cooler weather, the return of people from Summer vacations spent in other localities, and the opening of the schools, there is always an increase in the prevalence of communicable diseases. The rapidity and extent of this early autumnal increase seems to be an important factor in determining the prevalence of communicable diseases during the remainder of the year.

"This year the tendency to economize in the matter of food, the disturbed conditions of local transportation, the return of soldiers from service abroad, the expected recurrence of influenza, make efforts to protect the public health of more than ordinary importance.

"Success in the prevention of the spread of communicable diseases depends upon the prompt and effective isolation of those who may be dangerous to others and, to a great extent, this must mean the isolation of cases of sickness before a positive diagnosis can be made. In this matter, the general public must inevitably rely chiefly on the practising physician. Such assistance as the organization of the city health department can bring to bear for the protection of public health is ordinarily available only when dangerous, or possibly dangerous, individuals are brought to its attention by practising physicians.

"The City Health Department therefore asks you during the coming season to make special effort to report promptly all cases which you are called on to report by the laws and regulations of the Commonwealth, including the newly reportable diseases, influenza and lobar pneumonia.

"Advantage is also taken of this opportunity to remind you that venereal diseases are reportable to the State Department of Health and not to the City Health Department."

HANNON, ACCUSED IN DRUG CASE, DEFAULTS

Following his arrest on a charge of having hypnotic drugs in his possession, James J. Hannon of Kearsarge avenue, Roxbury, defaulted in Roxbury Court today. He was bailed at the Dudley Street Police Station after his arrest. At the time of his arrest the police also held John J. McDonough, charged with carrying a revolver when he entered Hannon's room. His case was continued until September 24. The police recovered several hundred dollars' worth of drugs in Hannon's room. They believe the drugs were part of a lot stolen some time ago from Carter, Carter & Meigs.

Mrs. Roper Left $73,000.

The will of Mrs. Harriet H. Roper of Lexington who died May 25, 1919, has been allowed. Henry H. Fay of Lexington has been appointed as executor and has given a bond of $116,000. The estate is valued at $72,000.

12 Candidates Now in Line for District Attorney

There's going to be a hot time in the old town, with ten candidates out for the nominations for district attorney of Suffolk County! There will be twelve names on the ballots, due to the fact that District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier and Daniel J. Kiley are candidates for both the Republican and the Democratic nominations. The opposition to Pelletier and Kiley in the Republican ranks plan a vigorous campaign.

There are five aspirants for the Republican nomination alone, led by Francis Juggins of No. 62 Lowell road, Winthrop. The others are Joseph Landy, No. 234 Warren street; John H. Kline, No. 25 Moore street, Winthrop; Solomon A. G. Cox, No. 35 Norway street, and Frank W. Thayer, No. 21 Aspinwall road.

The candidates for the Democratic nomination alone are: Ex-Representative Timothy F. Callahan, James A. Hatton, Assistant United States District Attorney, and Charles D. Driscoll of No. 21 Henshaw street.

Time for filing nomination papers has closed, and the candidates have until next Friday to withdraw if they wish.

ONE DEAD, MANY INJURED, IN STRIKE RIOT

Milwaukee, Aug. 20.—Following a pitched battle between strikers at the Cudahy packing plant, Governor Philipp ordered three companies of State militia at Camp Douglas to entrain and proceed to the plant.

Colonel Philip M. Westphal, who has been here during the strike, at the request of the Governor, advised the Governor to send troops.

One striker was killed, two others were seriously injured and a score received minor hurts. Ten deputies were injured, two by bullet wounds. The strike has been in progress for a week. Following a refusal of the strikers' demands of an increase in pay, Michael Cudahy, president, shut down the plant.

The strikers charge that 300 strike breakers have been employed for three days. This the officials deny. The strikers attacked a train with stones in the belief that it carried strike breakers. The crowd was dispersed by deputies.

FORBID OIL LEASES TO STIFLE COMPETITION

Washington, Aug. 20.—The Federal Trade Commission has taken action to stop the leasing of gasoline pumps and tanks to retail dealers by oil companies on exclusive dealing terms "intended to stifle competition." An order to cease this practice today was served on the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The order prohibits the company from entering into contracts which provide that dealers, as a consideration for the lease of pumps and tanks, shall use them only for the handling of gasoline and products sold by that company.

CAR MEN VOTE TO STRIKE AT MANCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 20.—The street railway lines of Manchester will be tied up by a strike of 214 motormen and conductors at 6 p. m. today, according to a vote taken at a meeting that started at midnight and lasted for more than four hours.

The men's demands are similar to those received by the Boston "L" employes in their recent controversy.

BERWIN IS HELD FOR THEFTS AT WATERTOWN

Bandit Lot Identified by Seven Residents: Hunt for Woman

[illegible] Berwin of Brunswick, N. J., [illegible] of thirty daylight [illegible] in Cambridge, Watertown, the Newtons and other places, was turned over to the Watertown police today following the identification by seven residents of their stolen property among the [illegible] and recovered by the police.

[illegible] of the Watertown police [illegible] of the prisoner, who will have to face charges in [illegible] cities and towns when he has satisfied the demands of justice there.

Berwin has admitted the breaks, according to the police, but says he is unable to recall all the places he entered during his six weeks' residence in Boston. The police are trying to locate the owners of property valued at $2000 said to have been taken from a fashionable Cambridge apartment near Harvard square.

A woman is also being sought. In the robbery of a Waltham dentist's home and in robberies in the Newtons a woman accomplice was seen to drive up in an automobile, calmly effect an entrance in the rear, emerge in a short time with a bundle and drive off. The robbery was accomplished while the man stood watch and the victims reported that money, silverware and jewelry were among the missing articles.

In the valuables recovered by the police are expensive gowns, jewelry, suit cases and handbags and many things whose actual worth is less than the sentimental value attached to them, such as cameos, intaglios and heirlooms.

That Berwin and his bandit queen intended to clean up and then get married is revealed, the police assert, by the finding of a marriage intention in the prisoner's clothes when he was searched at headquarters. The police refuse to divulge the name of the woman and expect shortly to place her under arrest.

The prisoner was trailed for three days by Inspectors Wolf and O'Neil of headquarters, and was arrested in Merrimack square by Patrolman Tomlinson of Station 3, after leaving his lodging in Russell street, West End. Tomlinson acted on instructions and information he received from the inspectors.

Berwin made no resistance when Tomlinson stopped him, but a loaded revolver was found on him when searched. He told the police he was released from the Eastern Pennsylvania penitentiary in November after doing an eight year "bit."

Among the places that he has admitted having robbed are the homes of Colonel Benton in Belmont and Robert Loring Robie in Watertown. In one of his breaks all he obtained was a brass French clock, valued at $200.

Berwin was indifferent to what he secured as an inventory of his haul showed. Musical instruments, men's and women's clothing, handbags and odds and ends of jewelry. Some of it he had "hocked," as numerous pawn tickets attested. But the most of it he had not had time to dispose of. Some articles he sold to second-hand dealers, he told the police.

The robberies were the boldest known to the police for years and were committed in broad daylight. Berwin and his woman pal would drive around in an automobile until they came to a residence that looked good to them and then enter the place by means of a rear window, effecting entrance by breaking a pane of glass with a stone wrapped in a handkerchief.

Efforts by the police to have Berwin admit that he entered fashionable Cambridge apartments and the homes of wealthy residents in the Newtons were met by the prisoner with the remark that he had entered so many places that he could not remember them all.

COMMITTEE AT ODDS OVER A 'FAIR PROFIT'

Penalty Provided by Proposed Legislation, but Real Problem Is Unsetled

Washington, Aug. 20.—What is a reasonable profit?

Asked by Attorney-General Palmer, a sub-committee of the Senate Agriculture Committee was attempting today to answer this question. Attorney-General Palmer's request for an amendment to the food control act called for a penalty for making "unfair or unreasonable profits," but did not define an "unreasonable profit."

After hearing protests of representatives of farmers' organizations, the agriculture committee decided that in order to make the law a fair one, which would not permit persecutions by overzealous authorities, a definition of what constitutes a fair profit should be inserted in the amendment.

Senator Smith of Georgia is chairman of the committee, which promises to find itself in a considerable difficulty. Preliminary discussions have shown that there is a considerable difference of opinion among members of the Senate over what a fair profit is.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, also a member of the sub-committee, gave warning today that no fair price could be named unless lengthy investigation was made into costs of production and manufacture and this, he said, would take considerable time. It was pointed out by Senator McNary that there are very different standards for fair prices in different businesses.

Attorney-General Palmer already has given the committee notice that he does not desire the amendments to the food control act to be involved. He declared that any disputed amendments would take time and that it is necessary to have quick action in order to check the profiteers immediately. He is entirely willing and desirous of leaving with the juries the determination of whether a price is fair and just.

Members of the committee, however, have heard the protest of the farmer, who has expressed a fear that city juries will not understand his business, and have demanded that there be a definition of fair prices.

ANGLO-ESTHONIAN DRIVE ON PETROGRAD IN SWING

London, Aug. 20.—The Anglo-Esthonian offensive against Petrograd is apparently in full swing, with the land forces supported by British air and naval forces. The following summary of the situation was printed by the Standard today:

"British munitions are pouring into Reval and are being supplied to Admiral Kolchak's and General Denikin's anti-Bolshevik armies. The Rumanians are preparing for an offensive against the Russian reds, joining up with the advancing army of General Denikin. The British are keeping order in the Caucasus and are co-operating with the Esthonians under General Judenith."

AN AMAZING CONDITION OF MIND.

In his great article, "Ireland an American Question," appearing tomorrow in the Boston American, Edward F. McSweeney writes that the Irish in Ireland and throughout the world "wonder why it is that ideals attract American enthusiasm and support in Lithuania, Poland, Palestine, Bohemia and elsewhere in the world, but meet bitter opposition when Ireland is concerned."

SENATOR WATSON TO SPEAK AT G. O. P. OUTING

Governor Coolidge, United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana and Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican National Committee will be the principal speakers at the popular-priced Republican outing at Norumbega Park Wednesday, August 27. Through arrangements made by Chairman Frank H. Hall of the State committee fifty cents will not only admit to the park but provide a box lunch and admittance to the theatre of the park where the speaking will take place. The committee is planning to welcome women as well as men.

TAKEN AT POINT OF GUN, HELD FOR STORE BREAK

Captured at the point of a revolver by Patrolman John Roberts, James Frazier, thirty-four, a homeless negro, was held in $1,000 in the Cambridge Court today on a charge of breaking and entering. Frazier was discovered in the store of the Harvard Co-operative Association on Massachusetts avenue near the M. I. T. buildings.

Dancers Want Jury of Men Only to Pick Prettiest Legs

By Universal Service.

New York, Aug. 20.—Anyone want to serve on a jury—a "man" jury—to decide as to the relative beauty of French legs and American legs—feminine, of course?

Such a jury may be called upon to settle the question as to which country has produced the most shapely pair of pedestals for popular dancers, for Ann Pennington, whose fillings for pink silk tights have provoked odes from poets or near-poets, took issue with the statement made by Mlle. Mistinguett, the noted French dancer, that she possessed the world's most beautiful pair of legs.

"I never saw Mlle. Mistinguett," said Miss Pennington, "but I think my legs are just as beautiful as hers, unless someone has been spoofing me, and, besides," she added naively, "I know how to use mine.

"If Mlle. Mistinguett would like to enter a little contest I would be more than willing to go in it, too. I wonder if she would show them to a jury to decide. I will."

Pearl Eaton, another American dancer with undoubtedly beautiful underpinning, also declared for an international beauty contest for legs, and expressed willingness to let a jury gaze upon hers.

Abandon Grounded Tug

Vineyard Haven, Aug. 20.—Shipping board tugs have abandoned the attempt to save the tug Ballew, which was grounded in shoal water off Cape Poge during the storm six days ago. A wrecking crew will try to salvage the vessel.

Safe Deposit Hints

This is an age of specializing. Hire your Safe Deposit Box in the vaults of some big city company that specializes on Safe Deposit. You can tell at a glance whether it does or does not. Look around among some of the companies before you decide.

Where the Safe Deposit business is obviously a side issue it is fair to assume that your safety may become a side issue likewise. If you are offered a Safe Deposit Box by a bank cheap, THERE IS A REASON.

You can get a Safe Deposit Box in any of the first-class Boston Safe Deposit Vaults at a minimum price of $10 a year, which is less than 20 cents a week, and that is little enough to pay for the peace of mind and comfort that you get by feeling that your securities are locked up in a place protected by the best that money can buy and ingenuity devise.

The Commonwealth Trust Company vaults, in all respects, comply with the standard set by experts. Box renters in them have the comfort of knowing they are as safe from loss as human ingenuity and experience can make them.

CHINESE WARN OF POSSIBLE NEW WAR

Proclamation Explains Refusal to Sign Treaty as Protest on Shantung Decision

China's position in refusing to sign the treaty at the Paris peace conference is set forth in a proclamation issued by the China Bureau of Public Information. The proclamation is sent from the headquarters of the Western Returned Students' Union, No. 24 Hankow road, Shanghai. This union is one of eleven organizations of China subscribing to the document which reads in part as follows:

"Ever since the inauguration of the republic of China Japan has persistently adopted a policy so as to weaken the country and to disrupt the government of China. With this end in view, Japan has resorted to double dealing with the Pekin government and the revolutionary element in southern China, she has presented to China the memorable twenty-one demands with the object of reducing China into a protectorate, she has induced the corrupt militarists of the Chinese government to enter into the military convention and other secret treaties and loans have been purposely and indiscriminately granted by her to the military party of the government so as to crush the development of democracy in China and also to obtain in return enormous concessions in railways, mines, forests and other natural resources from the insatiable militarists.

"OPEN DOOR" MEANINGLESS.

"It is Japan's ambition to dominate China with a view to utilize China's man-power and natural resources to fight for supremacy in the far east, otherwise her desire in forcing the military convention upon China in 1917 would be inexplicable. The open door policy as it stands today has already become a meaningless phrase in Manchuria, Korea and Fokian, as the commercial men of all nations can readily testify.

"The diplomatic defeat sustained by China at the Peace Conference has finally roused the Chinese people and for the first time public opinion has found expression in a nation-wide patriotic movement.

"There are three peculiar characteristics connected with this movement:

"a. It is a spontaneous and popular movement inasmuch as it was originally started by a group of students in Pekin and within a period of three weeks all the other classes of people have joined the movement.

CHINESE TRAITORS OUSTED.

"b. It is a peaceful but effective protest against the selfish and traitorous element in the government and the dismissal of the three Pekin officials only marked the beginning of the fight against corruption.

"c. It is a constructive measure adopted by the people of China to save their country from the dangers that are threatening her very existence from both within and without.

"China has refrained from signing the Peace Treaty, not because she disagrees with the principles embodied in the Peace Treaty as a whole, but chiefly on account of the Shantung question and should Great Britain, France and the United States permit Japan to succeed to all the German rights in Shantung, then this decision will eventually lead to unthinkable consequences. First, it might in the near future cause a revolution in China, thereby injuring the commercial interests of all nations. Secondly, when Japan is allowed to enjoy special privileges in China and thereby destroy the doctrine of equal opportunities, it might eventually lead to a second world revolution."

RECONSTRUCTION WORK FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Hand work will be taught patients of the Boston Consumptives' Hospital, Mattapan, under the direction of a special committee of the trustees, beginning September 3. The committie will co-operate with the Boston Association for the Prevention and Control of Tuberculosis, Seymour H. Stone secretary. The object of the work is to give patients occupation for their spare time. Some of the articles will be sold and the profits turned over to the workers. The teacher will be Miss Dorothy B Emmons, a trained reconstruction aide, recently attached to United States General Hospital No. 16, at New Haven.

SOMERVILLE TAX RATE $2.60 HIGHER THIS YEAR

Fred E. Warren, chairman of the Somerville board of assessors, announced yesterday afternoon that the tax rate in that city for the coming year would be $25.80, an increase of $2.60 over that of last year. This includes the Elevated railway assessment, which is $169,793.77 for Somerville, accounting for approximately $2 of the increase.

The total valuation of the city was announced as $87,366,124 from which the city will receive a revenue of $2,253,767.99.

ADAMS MAY ORDER ARMY FOOD SUPPLY

Adams, Aug. 20.—For the purpose of investigating purchase of army food by Adams to be sold at cost to local residents, the following committee has been appointed: Dr. A. K. Boom, F. H. Smith, E. K. McPeck and Judge Fred E. Shaw. The committee will make a personal investigation trip to Boston before ordering the food.

LEXINGTON MAN WAS CAPTIVE OF GERMANS

Lexington, Aug. 20.—Charles Williams, who was in the thick of the fight during the world war, is visiting the home of his sister, Mrs. Perley C. Tibbetts, in this town.

Williams went overseas two years ago with the 2nd Division, 23rd Infantry, and was a prisoner at the Reichstag prison camp in Germany for three months.

McSWEENEY TELLS WHY IRISH ARE AGAINST LEAGUE

to the League of Nations fetish, then the league founded on injustice for the purpose of protecting and perpetuating injustice is a failure.

Love of liberty is not a crime nor a sin, and if that love which gave birth to this country is set in the scale-pan opposite that containing the League of Nations, the league pan must strike the beam.

HITCHCOCK'S OPTIMISM UNWARRANTED.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska is quoted as saying that it his opinion Ireland would be benefited, and aided materially in her demand for self-government by the establishment of the league; that she would have more chance of securing autonomy with the league than without one (Senator Walsh of Montana made the same statement); that under the league, with the nations grouped around a table, it would constitute a great forum to which any "people" might go to present their claims for independence.

The league covenant, as proposed, does not warrant the Senator's optimism for Ireland, nor his interpretation of its terms. There is no provision in the league covenant that would allow Ireland or any "people" to take such a course. Under Article XI., the only article in any way suggesting such a course, it is provided that it is the right of each "member" of the league to bring to the attention of the assembly or council "any circumstance affecting international relations which threatens to disturb either the peace or the good understanding between nations, upon which peace depends."

The article does not say "people," but Ireland is not a "member" of the league. How, then, can Ireland, as of right, take her case to the council or assembly, as suggested by Senator Hitchcock? It might be argued that some "member" of the league, friendly to Ireland, might do it for her. Those same nations which are to compose the league, and which are still sitting in the Peace Conference at Paris, have refused, and still refuse, to allow Ireland to present her case before that conference.

What basis is there for assuming that they will change their positions after the league is established? It is certain that the same nation, and that same sinister pressure heretofore exerted to prevent its presentation to the Peace Conference, would just as surely prevent Ireland's case being presented to the league assembly or council. Bonar Law in Parliament stated recently that England would not allow Ireland's case to be so considered.

If Ireland's case is entitled to and worthy of consideration by the league, it is just as worthy of present consideration by the Peace Conference, and any hope for a future favorable consideration after the formation of the league rests upon no foundation of present facts. The present and not the future is the time for recognition of Ireland's independence.

Senator Hitchcock is also reported as saying that a free Ireland without a league would be a prey of other nations. This is absurd on the face of it. There are twenty or more nations, none of them any stronger than Ireland or more able to maintain themselves than Ireland, created by the treaty, which will be free whether the league is established or not. Why should not Ireland have the same opportunity? Nobody powerful enough and desiring to attack England will be deterred by reason of the existence of the league, and nobody will be induced to attack her by reason of the absence of any league.

Ireland by her proximity to England is safe from any invader, other than England. No invasion other than that of England ever succeeded to permanence. Let Ireland be free, and, if you will, let her independence and neutrality be guaranteed by England, as has been done with other small nations. England's fear of a conquest of Ireland by another nation, as a reason for not granting independence without the protection of a league is mere poppycock, and deserves no serious consideration.

ANOTHER SENATORIAL ERROR.

The Senator is also reported to have said that it was poor policy for the "Irishman" in this country to be against the league because of what it meant for Ireland, and because "Americans" wanted it, intimating that all Americans, other than those of the Irish race, whom the Senator by his statement has not classed as Americans, are in favor of the league.

But the Senator erred again, and this raises the whole issue of the opposition to the league covenant charged against the Irish in America as being un-American in that it places the interests of Ireland before those of this country. The only article of the league affecting Ireland and discussed by those having Ireland's interests at heart is Article X., which provides:

> "The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled."

This "undertaking" to preserve against external aggression, threat, or danger of external aggression, the territorial integrity and political independence of member nations absolutely annihilates Ireland's aspirations for independence if the League of Nations is established without Ireland's nationhood being first recognized. Argue as one may as to whether "ex- or Assembly has the power to decide and interpret "external aggression." includes political or economic aggression, such as peaceful penetration, the fact stands forth, the more prominent for the discussion, that the Council or Assembly has the power to define and interpret "external aggression." Whatever "external aggression" may be, whatever the Council or Assembly may say it is, there is no argument but that it is prohibited by Article X. Everybody will agree to that statement.

"SACRED RIGHT OF REVOLUTION."

The proponents of the league argue vociferously that the "sacred right of revolution" is protected by Article X., and that Ireland may revolt or rebel to her heart's content, knowing that America will never be called upon under Article X. to go to England's aid in suppression such a rebellion. This so-called "sacred right of revolution" is a mere empty phrase if the people engaged in a just revolution, a revolution such as that of the American Colonies, are prevented from seeking or securing the aid of liberty-loving peoples throughout the world. Under Article X. it matters not how just a rebellion may be, how tyrannical may be an oppression, the oppressor, whose oppression is based upon and secured by its superior might, is secured in its oppression. Unless David had secured his five stones, his just cause would have gone down in defeat before Goliath.

Unless a revolution for liberty can attract to itself aid sufficient to offset the superior might of the oppressor, the revolution must inevitably fail. So if Ireland with her scant four million people is left to the mercy of the British Empire with its hundreds of millions, of what use is this "sacred right?" Where would this country have been if it were left to this "sacred right?"

If Article X. existed at the time of the Revolution, France could not have recognized our independence, the Irish Brigade of France could not have come to our aid, Russia could not have tied up the North Sea, and we would still be an English colony.

Article X. creates an obligation upon the part of members to go to war in the event of external aggression. If, then, France should aid Ireland in a revolution, America would be obliged either to violate her pledge under Article X. or go to war against France and Ireland.

WOULD MEAN WAR AGAINST U. S.

On the other hand, if America attempted to offer to Ireland military, financial, economic or political aid, even by way of agitation in this country, as is now going on, all other members of the League would be bound to take action, military in the last analysis, against this country. If the League is to be established with Ireland's independence not recognized beforehand, then Article X. ought to be eliminated, for otherwise Ireland is perpetually enslaved.

But if Article X. were eliminated, opposition upon behalf of Ireland would cease. Ireland's cause would still be a live cause and recognition of her nationhood possible. If, on the other hand, Ireland were recognized as a nation and included as a member in the League upon its formation, Ireland would not object to Article X., but would gladly accept it as a protection for her territory and her political independence.

But even if either contingency happened, and objection to the League should cease on behalf of Ireland, the Americans of Irish blood would still protest against this League for the sake of America. They would still protest against the adoption of any League such as this, which in Articles I. and III. gives England and her colonies at least six votes in the Assembly against one for this country, which in Article IV. permits England and her four colonies to secure five votes out of nine in the Council against one for America.

They would still protest against a League with such a Council possible, which, if America had a dispute with England, which dispute under Article XV. of the Covenant would be submitted to the Assembly or Council, would prevent America voting on the matter, and while denying England a vote would allow four of her colonies a vote, or a majority of the seven votes in the Council and allow five of her colonies and all her "dependencies," like Hedjaz, a vote in the Assembly.

AS TO THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

They would bitterly protest against any League which would allow the interpretation and application of the Monroe Doctrine to be determined by a foreign body, as this League does. The Monroe Doctrine is not an "international understanding," regional or otherwise, as it is described in Article XXI. It is an American policy, an ultimatum to Europe to keep her hands off the Western Continent.

We cannot allow ourselves to be held responsible to any foreign body for the time, extent or method of its application. When we submit to its classification as an "international understanding," under the various articles of the Covenant, it comes within the power of the League to determine its meaning, and its application, and we who are most concerned, who promulgated the doctrine for our self-preservation, would have no vote upon the matter. They would protest against any such League as would give the right to interfere in our domestic affairs to any foreign body.

Article XI. permits any member to present to the Assembly or Council any question affecting its relations with any other country, and allows the League to take "any action" thereon which is deemed wise. Article III. allows the Assembly and Article IV. allows the Council to deal with any matter affecting the peace of the world.

Immigration, tariffs, Mexican border raids, Americanization projects, by reason of our population, necessarily affect other countries. Under the League we are at the mercy of foreign nations, without a vote ourselves, if any such question is raised by any member nation.

RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL.

They would protest against such a League which, under Article I., would prevent our withdrawal if any one of its members, such as Hedjaz, should object. We ought to have the right to withdraw without being compelled to submit to the dictation of anybody as to whether our international obligations have been fulfilled.

They would protest against any League such as this, which, under Article X., would compel us at the request of any member in Asia, Africa or Europe to send our army and navy to take part in any and every attack upon its territory. We would be obliged, judging from past history, to maintain a standing army in the Balkans.

While they say that we do not agree in advance to go to war under this article, as Senator Lodge has so ably pointed out, we are morally bound to act on the advice of the Council, and Congress would be morally bound to declare war. Moral obligations, the only support of treaties, must be observed by this country.

But in addition, under Article VIII., it is fair to assume that the Council or Assembly might interpret its provision to the effect that "the members of the League recognize that the maintenance of peace requires . . . the enforcement by common action of international obligations."

If such interpretation were given, clearly we would be placed in the position of having agreed in advance to go to war. We would be obliged to violate our pledge under the Covenant or accept the interpretation.

For these reasons, which are not all the reasons by any means, the citizens of this country of Irish blood, citizens of the United States and not of the world, would fight against such a monster. "America above all else" is the sentiment of these people. Selfishness, if you will, but America gave them all they have, home life, liberty, happiness, the opportunity to develop, the opportunity to realize ambitions, all of which had been denied, and are still denied to the other members of the race in the cradle of its birth by that nation which will dominate this proposed League.

They have a tradition of over seven centuries of British domination, promises, treaties, democracy and civilization. Because of this tradition, they realize what tremendous dangers this country is creating for itself by accepting the League, and because of this selfish love of America, because of their gratitude to America, in spite of accusations of anti-Americanism disproved in every American war from the Revolution down to date, they would fight with all the power of pen, tongue and sword if need be to prevent America's dishonor and surrender to internationalism.

They would continue to fight and fight to the end, yes, even forsaking without question Ireland's cause to prevent America's recolonization by England, to retain America as a free and independent sovereign State.

To Be Continued in Tomorrow's Boston American.

MOVE TO SPEED UP PLANS FOR PEACE ARMY

Slashing of Appropriations a Military Mistake, Say Many Complaints

Washington, Aug. 20.—Within two weeks the House Military Affairs Committee will begin framing legislation for the reorganization of the army on a permanent basis and the bill will become law before next December, Representative Julius Kahn, chairman of the committee, predicted today in outlining his plans.

Complaints have been received by the committee from inside and outside the army that the slashing of appropriations in the House in the framing of the 1919-20 bill has resulted in demoralization and the too rapid disintegration of the great fighting machine built up to meet the German menace.

Members of the House Military Affairs Committee now frankly admit they went too far in their program of economy. They are being forced to come back to the House with emergency legislation, asking the temporary increase in the army personnel of officers to 18,000, or nearly double the number provided in the present appropriation law.

"The additional authorization is demanded," explained Kahn today, "by the necessity of providing officers for aviation, chemical warfare and medical branches of the army service, and for supplying officers to command the men needed to protect the $3,000,000 army stores in France and in this country."

ROXBURY POST OF LEGION TO MEET

Roxbury Post, No. 44, American Legion, will hold an important meeting tonight in the Roxbury Boys Club and among other things will hear a report on the progress made in arranging for the Victory Ball which is to be held on the anniversary of the armistice. Some keen contests are expected at the election early in September, as the vice-commander and others of the officers have decided not to be candidates, leaving the field clear for anyone who wants to make the fight.

DEITRICK CHALLENGES LONG TO DEBATE

Former Congressman Frederick S. Deitrick, Democratic candidate for Governor, challenged one of his opponents, Richard H. Long, to a thirty-day State-wide joint debate on the issues of the campaign.

This challenge was made in an open letter to Mr. Long, in which, among other things, Mr. Deitrick expressed himself as favoring the immediate removal of Police Commissioner Curtis.

Ayer Man's Will Allowed

The will of Fred B. Felch of Ayer, who died June 13, 1919, has been allowed. Mrs. Lizzie G. Felch of Ayer, widow of the deceased, has been appointed as executrix and has given a bond of $30,000. The estate is valued at $17,000.

WEALTHY WIDOW MARRIED TO CHAUFFFUR

Emma E. Chase, 60 and Invalid, Weds Employe 25 Years Younger

Haverhill, Aug. 20.—Friends of Mrs. Emma E. Chase, sixty, one of Haverhill's wealthiest women, were surprised today when the fact that she had married her chauffeur, who is twenty-five years her junior, became known.

Some months ago it had been rumored that the rich widow and her chauffeur were to be married, but these reports were denied. A daughter of Mrs. Chase, Miss Esther Chase of Pittsfield, was not present when her mother and Stevens were married in the imposing Chase residence at Arlington and Richmond streets. It is said that Miss Chase, who is thirty-three years old, was unalterably opposed to the match and was not consulted when her mother finally determined to have the ceremony performed.

Mrs. Stevens was the daughter of Nathaniel Johnson, who was a shoe manufacturer in Haverhill many years ago. When he died the business went into the hands of his son-in-law and partner, Herbert E. Chase, who had married Mr. Johnson's daughter Emma.

Mr. Chase died two years ago and his widow, who is said to be a chronic sufferer from an incurable internal ailment, disposed of the business after finding its responsibilities too weighty for her to carry.

Stevens, who was a widower, came to work for Mrs. Chase a year ago. He has a son about eight years old, who is living with relatives in Lawrence.

FOUR FROM ARLINGTON SEEK SEAT ON HILL

With four candidates already in the field for nomination as Representative to the General Court from the 25th Middlesex Representative District, the town of Arlington is assured of a lively campaign from now until State election in November. These candidates are out for the primary election in September.

Representative Jacob Bitzer, who has held the office for several years, has declined to serve again. Charles C. Warren, chairman of the Republican town committee; Arthur Birch, former chairman of the Board of Public Works; Francis J. Williams, who was a candidate for Representative once before, and John J. Dale, a local business man, all Republicans, are the candidates now in the field.

LARCENY FROM GAS METERS IS CHARGED

Charged with larceny from gas meters, and with having in his possession a key to open prepayment meters of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, Herbert J. Stanton of Harbor View street, Dorchester, was held today in $1,100 for the Grand Jury. Charles H. Bell, Harrison avenue, Roxbury, arrested with Stanton on a charge of larceny from the meters, was given a month in the House of Correction by Judge Ahern. The police believe that the arrest of Stanton and Bell clears up a series of thefts from gas meters which have been baffling the authorities since early last May.

ALLEN AND HALLOWELL VIEW FIELD

Candidates for Attorney-General Give Out Statements

Statements were issued today from the camps of both J. Weston Allen and J. Mott Hallowell, rival candidates for the Republican nomination for attorney-general.

Mr. Hallowell said: "I am much pleased at the popular reception apparently given my candidacy. I have gone over the top by more than seven times the requisite number of signatures. Additional signatures are still coming in."

Mr. Allen, who was an unsuccessful candidate against Henry Attwill a year ago, filed nomination papers yesterday.

He said today: "I am not making specious promises. I have a public record. During the last five years I have given much of my time to public affairs. I have consistently endeavored to prevent profiteering in fish. I introduced in the Legislature, and with the assistance of Senator Churchill was able to secure the passage of an act making training in citizenship compulsory in all public schools in Massachusetts."

If you found a letter from another woman in your husband's pocket - what would you do ?

WOULD you faint? Would you send for a lawyer? Would you remain silent and wait? Or would you do what Mrs. Madden did, when the other woman came along? How would you act if you were in her position? "The test of a woman's quality," says Corra Harris, "is how she conducts herself when she finds that another woman is stealing her husband's love." If you want to know how to hold a husband's love begin reading

"Happily Married," by Corra Harris

Author of "Making Her His Wife," "The Circuit Rider's Wife," etc.

Mrs. Harris makes you see the inner workings of the mind of a woman who was too sure of her husband and of a husband who was too sure of himself. In this new novel she shows you just how a man thinks and why he acts in such peculiar ways. And oh! how Mrs. Harris does know her own sex! She understands every emotion they feel. She divulges all their little tricks in a most delicious manner. If you want to learn how to manage a man without letting him know it, read this extremely entertaining three-part novel beginning in Pictorial Review for September.

What makes a man different after he's married ?

It was constantly argued during the middle ages that a man is bound to rule his wife

DID it ever occur to you that every married man has a double personality? Why is your husband different from the man you married? What is the reason? You probably know a dozen couples who are unhappily married. Why? What is the matter with marriage?

Havelock Ellis, the eminent English sociologist, says that nine times out of ten it is the man's fault and then he gives some startling reasons for his theory. What do you think? In a brilliant and searching article in the September Pictorial Review, Mr. Ellis tells why husbands and men are two different things—and how this difference lies at the very root of "the marriage question."

He says that marriage is a risky experiment and nothing more. And that the system that worked five hundred years ago won't work today. The war has created a tremendous upheaval in the marriage relationship.

What is going to happen? Read what this supreme authority has to say on this subject in his sensational article in Pictorial Review for September called "What Makes a Man a Husband?"

This is the first of a remarkable series of articles on marriage which will appear in Pictorial Review this Fall.

Wants Charlestown's Rough Streets Improved

The American recently announced that the road near Avon and Randolph was under the process of repair and the following letter from a Boston motorist is interesting:

Automobile Editor:

Dear Sir—I had to go through Avon last Sunday and was greatly surprised as well as pleased to see that the roads are being repaired, and wish to thank you for your good work in connection with bringing this about.

Now would it be possible for you to start something in reference to the road at Sullivan square, Charlestown. From the railroad bridge on the Somerville line through the square and up over Bunker Hill it is terrible and around the hill by way of Main street is just as bad. Machines coming in town from that side of the city have to go miles out of their way through Cambridge in order to get in safely.

Anything you can do to help change these conditions will be greatly appreciated by many owners and drivers who are forced to go over this road every day as I am. MOTORIST.

AMPLE HOUSING FOR NATIONAL AUTO SHOW

For the first time in its history the automobile industry will enjoy, this Winter, ample housing facilities for the annual national shows. This condition has been brought about by the addition to the list of buildings heretofore occupied two of the largest structures of their kind in the world. It will therefore be possible to hold, for the first time, passenger and commercial departments of the shows the same week, both at New York and Chicago. Grand Central Palace will be available for the passenger car section of the New York show.

The details of arrangements are as follows:

January 3-10—Twentieth annual national exhibition of passenger cars and accessories at Grand Central Palace, New York.

January 3-10—National exhibition of commercial cars and accessories at Eighth Coast Artillery Armory, Kingsbridge road, New York.

January 24-31—Twentieth annual national exhibition of passenger cars and accessories at the Coliseum and First Regiment Armory, Chicago.

January 24-31—National exhibition of commercial cars and accessories at International Amphitheatre, Chicago.

"FLAT" BATTERY BAD AS A FLAT TIRE

In speaking of battery troubles, Louis Raycroft, service manager of the Exide Battery, has some useful information to give to the owner who sometimes has trouble. Mr. Raycroft says: "While we tell motorists to keep the plates covered with water, most of them fill their batteries just above the plates and that is all. This is wrong. Put all the water in that the battery will stand without slopping over. If the water just covers the plates, of course it evaporates and goes below the tops.

"Always keep the battery fully charged. You wouldn't think of running on a flat tire, why run a flat battery? Battery tests on the hydrometer should read 1250. When the tester reads less than 1250 it should be recharged immediately. Between 1220 and 1250 it can be brought back by using the car to charge it."

HOW TO AVOID POOR ROADS IN CONNECTICUT

Goodrich Bureau Gives Information on All Places Now Under Construction

The Goodrich National Touring Bureau has prepared the following road information, which will interest motorists who are touring through Connecticut:

Mansfield—Road from South Coventry to Merrow under construction. Public can pass at own risk. Road from Mansfield Centre to Warrenville under construction near the Ashford line. Public can pass at own risk.

Pomfret—Abington road under construction. Public can pass at own risk.

Putnam—Wall at the Putnam Woolen Mill, detour of two city blocks provided.

Killingly—Road to the Goodyear Mills under construction. Public can pass at own risk.

Norwich-Ledon Bridge—Road open to travel although bridge is not quite finished.

Norwich-Westerly Road—Road under construction at the north end. Public can pass at own risk.

Trunk Line 10 A in the Town of Ledyard—Breakwater Bridge under construction, road passable.

Thames River Bridge under construction, bridge not usable, public uses the ferry.

Stratford Shore Road—Concrete road under construction, detour via Eastern Point to the Poquonock church.

Meriden—The section east of Ree street has been completed and thrown open to traffic.

Danbury—Work on the Danbury-New Fairfield road has started, portion of road closed, but detour of about one and one-quarter miles has been arranged.

Southbury—Work on the Southbury-Oxford road has started, road not closed during construction. Length about three-quarters of a mile.

It is suggested that all travel between Seymour and Waterbury detour at Seymour to Payne's Corner, thence to Naugatuck over the New Haven-Naugatuck road. This takes away the one-way travel and the rough section of road under construction through Beacon Falls.

Road from Smith Hill to Lakeville is torn up in spots, but passable.

At Salisbury, where the contractor is putting a concrete road, a short detour is necessary. This detour is alongside the road and very short; otherwise road open to traffic.

From Lakeville toward Sharon the road is torn up for three miles, but no detours are necessary.

It is recommended that through traffic be routed another way than by way of Lakeville and Salisbury.

The bridge over the Blackberry River, in North Canaan, is now open for traffic.

HANDWRITING CLEARS AUTO THEFT SUSPECT

Burton L. Hill of No. 748 Tremont street, Boston, was found not guilty in the Somerville court of larceny of an automobile belonging to Herbert E. Campbell of No. 147 Cross street, East Somerville, on July 18. Shortly after the automobile was stolen Campbell received a letter mailed in Boston stating that under certain conditions the car would be returned. Penmanship experts testified that Hill was not the writer.

ASK MR. FIXIT

Mr. Fixit will answer questions through this column each week. Addresses must accompany each question, but names will not be printed.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Is there such a thing on the market as a ratchet crank for a Ford car which will prevent injury from backfiring? G. W. L., 123 First st., Providence.

There is such a device on the market. We cannot give the name for obvious reasons, but you can get it at most supply houses.

Mr. Fixit: I have a Chevrolet car, model 490. It runs fine on the level but when I strike the slightest rise it knocks and sputters and finally the motor stops. When running idle the motor runs beautifully and does not skip a particle. Could you inform me where my trouble is?

L. A. R., Marlboro, Mass.

The points on your distributor may need cleaning and your carburetor or the strainer in the gasoline line is probably dirty. When dirt collects it prevents the proper flow of gas to the motor. You do not notice this when the motor is running idle because enough gasoline filters through to turn it over, but it is starved at higher speeds. Probably carbon in your cylinders causes the knocking you speak of, although it can also come from a poor mixture.

Mr. Fixit: I have a 1919 Buick that misses up to twenty miles an hour. Above that it runs finely. It does not miss all the time, but runs pretty well until it gets warmed up—then starts to miss. Do the valves need grinding? It has been run 8,500 miles. I have cleaned the points on the distributor and adjusted them, and also the spark plugs. Is there something else besides the valves that could cause this? Please answer through the Mr. Fixit column. G. C.

Milton, Mass.

Your valve stems are probably adjusted too closely to the tappets. When the motor is cold the valves lift properly, but when it gets warm the stems expand, which raises the valves off their seats and the valves do not close. This makes the motor miss. Above twenty miles an hour the car is rolling enough so that you do not seem to notice the difference, but you will when these are fixed. The stems should be adjusted to clear the tappets about the thickness of a thin business card when the motor is hot. Your valves are probably pitted, since they have not been seating properly, and need grinding.

Dear Mr. Fixit—I have a Ford car and find that it seems to jump out of high speed when going fast. What causes this and how can I remedy it? J. W. L., Medford.

Your high speed clutch needs tightening. This is done by screwing up on the nuts which hold the three fingers that engage the high speed. Take off your transmission case cover and you will see these fingers.

Someone writes in without signing any name and says: "I bought an automobile in Boston and live in New York. If I take out number plates here can I change them in New York, or do I have to take out new ones?" Ordinarily we would not answer this because no name was signed, but will do so this time.

You cannot change your Massachusetts plates for New York plates. Either send directly to New York for your license or get your dealer from whom you bought your car to loan you his number plates until you get there.

DAYLIGHT BILL KILLED IN HOUSE

Absence of City Congressmen Gives Farmers Power to Override Veto

By Universal Service.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Taking advantage of the absence of a large number of the city Representatives, the farmer members of the House succeeded in over-riding President Wilson's veto of the daylight saving repeal bill by a vote of 223 to 101, with one member voting present.

Leaders of the forces favoring the repeal had made a thorough canvass of the members present before they decided to permit the question to come to a vote. Efforts of Representatives Blanton, Democrat, of Texas, and King, Republican, of Illinois, to defer the vote, and a motion by Representative Wingo, Democrat, of Arkansas, all opponents of the law, were quickly voted down, because it was known in advance what the result would be.

Contrary to all expectations, more city members than representatives from rural districts were out of town. The vote to save the Daylight Saving Plan was 34 short of the total which prevented the first attempt to override the President's veto in July.

Only 11 votes were needed to save the plan. Had this additional number of city members been present, the advocates of the repeal would not have had the two-thirds vote necessary under the constitution to override the veto.

A glance at the list of 106 absentees showed that included in this number were far more than 11 members who were known to have favored retention of the law.

CLEVELAND TIRE ON EASY PAYMENT PLAN

The distribution of the Cleveland tire is being handled by Farley & MacNeill, Federal street, and they are selling them on their "pay-as-you-ride" plan.

In speaking of tires Mr. MacNeill says: "Some auto owners nowadays are content with a good looking, smooth running machine and don't give their tires real consideration. Good tires cost no more than poor ones, yet many don't really think about the quality until they get out in the country, miles from home, and have a blowout.

"The Cleveland Tire Company is manufacturing a hand-made tire, using the best materials procurable, and they are designed and manufactured with the firm purpose of giving satisfaction to the limit. The best fabrics and the highest grade rubbers are built into the tire by hand."

JACK B.—Every man who reached camp is entitled to the $60 bonus.

TIRE TREAD GOOD FOR BACK OR FRONT WHEELS

Car owners appreciate a type of tire tread which makes it possible to use the tire on either front or back wheels. There come times when it is desirable to change the tires about, and the owner regards it as important to be able to make the change without changing all round.

Another advantage is that it is necessary to carry only one spare. The United States Tire Company regards the fact that the tread design of its Royal Cord is such that it can be used successfully on all four wheels as one of the reasons for the great popularity of the tire.

DERF 360 POINT SPARK PLUGS

Real Spark Plug Service

—and many forms of service, too, for Derf Plugs save your gas, increase your power and give you efficient ignition in the bargain.

The Derf Plugs jump the hottest spark on the market, and need the leanest mixture. Equip your car with them, thin your mixture down, note the added power, the increased mileage per gallon of gasoline, then add up your shrinking gas bills and see how short a time it takes for these plugs to pay for themselves.

Derf Plugs are made to give long as well as varied service. The ease and quickness with which they can be taken apart make it child's play to clean them—the intense heat which burns off most of the carbon, makes cleaning hardly necessary.

Less Gear Shifting
You can go slower on high with Derf Plugs and they pick up quicker without bucking than any other plug made. Try a set on your car. $6.20 for four. $9.30 for six. At all dealers.

FIND BODIES OF TWO BOYS IN WALTHAM

The crushed bodies of two seven-year-old Waltham boys, Walter Chamberg of No. 123 Duddy avenue and Gerald Charboneau of No. 21 Brown avenue, were found early today beneath a pile of lumber on Felton street.

The boys, who had been missing since Monday, had evidently been playing in the lumber yard when a large pile of boards slid over and crushed out their lives.

A small hand protruding from between some lumber was seen by another boy, Lawrence Caponi, who gave the alarm, and the bodies were recovered.

According to the police, young Chamberg and Charboneau were last seen by their playmates on the Newhall playground about 10:30 Monday morning. At that hour they started for the Butterick lumber yard on Felton street.

It is believed that in accordance with boyish custom, they started to build a hut or "robbers' cave" with boards. In tugging at these boards they apparently loosened a pile that descended on top of them.

Young Caponi, while walking through the yard today, saw the hand sticking out of the pile of boards, and running to the nearby railroad track, notified an engineer. The latter in turn secured the aid of a man named Sweeney, and the two lifted off the lumber and disclosed the two small bodies. Apparently death had been instantaneous.

FIVE IMMIGRATION EMPLOYES DROPPED

Five employes were dropped today from the staff of the United States Immigration Station at Boston, on orders received from Washington by Commissioner H. J. Skeffington. The discharged employes are a clerk, two firemen and two laborers.

As a result of discharges and low salaries, employes of the immigration service who are members of the union of government employes have written to every Congressman and Senator in New England protesting against the small appropriation for this service. Fifty to sixty employes were dropped in New York.

Commissioner Skeffington was already working with a reduced staff, as a number of his employes were lent to other departments during the war and had not yet been returned, and others, dissatisfied with salaries fixed twenty-five years ago, resigned to take up other interests.

AMERICAN PACT TO AID FRANCE CONSTITUTIONAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—The proposed pact under which the United States with Great Britain would go to the aid of France in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany is constitutional, a sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has decided.

Under a resolution by Senator Walsh of Montana, the sub-committee was directed to investigate the constitutionality of the treaty.

PORTLAND MAN PILOTS WINNING CHASER 131

By Universal Service.

New York, Aug. 20.—The United States submarine chaser 131 is the winner of the submarine chaser race from Bermuda. That craft has arrived here with Lieutenant Joseph L. Day of Portland, Me., in command. The official time of the winner was given as 58 hours and 32 minutes, or an average of 11.06 knots, and is said to be a record for gasoline driven craft over the 680-mile course.

Mr. Duarte, whose father, Manuel Duarte, was a well-known author, completed his course at the University of Coimbra in 1905. When Portugal became a republic, Mr. Duarte received the appointment of consul to Boston. This was in 1911 when he was but twenty-three years old, and when, in 1918, he was appointed consulate general in New York. Mr. Duarte won the distinction of being the youngest consul general in America.

Tax Rate Unchanged

Uxbridge, Aug. 20.—The 1919 tax rate is $17 per thousand, the same as the rate of last year. Valuations of the town total $4,938,000, of which $600,000 is in new taxable property.

STARTS $40,000 SUIT IN AUTO DEATH CASE

An unusual damage suit has been brought in Middlesex Superior Court, in which $15,000 damages are asked for the death of Russell B. Frost of Stoneham, killed last May by an automobile, and $25,000 additional for the "conscious suffering endured before death."

The suits are brought by Gordon A. Frost, administrator, against Ralph Holman of Stoneham, driver of the car, and Mrs. Beatrice Holman, owner.

The Boston Elevated is defendant in two $5,000 damage suits. Eva Silverman of Boston brings one of the suits, alleging that on March 16 last she was seriously injured when an Elevated train hit an automobile in which she was riding. David Levison of Boston sues for the same amount as the result of the same accident.

Walter O. Cheever of Stoneham, administrator of the estate of Florence G. Cheever, sues Elihu A. Varney of Newmarket, N. H., for $15,000, charging that Mrs. Cheever died as the result of injuries received when she was struck by the defendant's automobile.

Four suits aggregating $13,000 are filed against the R. A. Fash Ice Cream Company of Everett, as the result of an auto collision in Everett, July 7 last. The plaintiffs are Elizabeth Goldstein of Malden, seeking $5,000 damages; Minnie Goldstein, $2,000; Cole Abrams of Malden, $5,000, and Edwin I. Spector of Malden, owner of the car, $1,000.

George Lamothe of Worcester, administrator of the estate of Eugene Lamothe, is sued for $5,000 by David Tuck of Somerville, who charges that last January he was hit and injured by an auto driven by the deceased.

METHODISTS ARE SUED FOR BACK ROOM RENT

The trustees of the Boston Baptist Social Union have not been paid for the use of rooms in the Ford building by the trustees of the Methodist Religious Society in Boston, according to a bill in equity filed in the Superior Court by George A. Crawford, who states he holds by assignment a claim for rent amounting to $809. Crawford seeks to reach the $100,000 fund which was obtained from the sale of the old Bromfield street edifice.

The defendants are former Governor John L. Bates, Harvey N. Shepard, Alvah G. Sleeper and other trustees of the fund established in 1806 by William H. Jackson for the benefit of the Methodist Religious Society.

After the sale of the church property on Bromfield street the trustees desired a place of worship and arranged for the use of Kingsley Hall, between February 16, 1913, and August 31, 1913, at $25, and of the Social Union Parlor of Kingsley Hall on Friday evenings at $2.

MORE DEALERS SIGN UP FISH AGREEMENT

The Boston Fish Pier Company and some Gloucester concerns, which had previously withheld their signatures from the agreement reached last Friday which settled the strike here, today signed the agreement. As a result the work of unloading catches went on smoothly today.

Secretary William Brown of the Fishermen's Union of the Atlantic went to the Fish Pier early today and after obtaining the signatures of those who had previously been holding out, telephoned orders to the union to send all the union fish handlers obtainable.

The Canadian steamer Baleine, members of whose crew have joined the union, brought in 160,000 pounds of fish, which were sold today for approximately $10,000.

The steam trawler Crest arrived today with 190,000 pounds of haddock, which was sold for 1½ cents a pound, the minimum fixed by last Friday's agreement.

Officials of the Fishermen's Union said today that the situation looked better than at any time since the strike was settled. Gloucester concerns have been signing until the only one at present holding out is the Gorton-Pew Company, which declined to enter upon any agreement which included price fixing.

SERVICES FOR WIFE OF BEDFORD POSTMASTER

The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Manning, wife of Postmaster Michael F. Manning of Bedford, was held here this afternoon from her home on Elm street, Rev. J. Vanner Garton, D. D., acting pastor of the Bedford Congregational Church, officiating. Burial was in Shawsheen Cemetery. Mrs. Manning died after a long illness. She was born in Cambridge, September 17, 1864, but had lived most of her life in Bedford. She leaves, besides her husband, a daughter and two sons.

BRICKLEY IS OUT FOR LEGION SECRETARY

David J. Brickley of West Roxbury, captain of the 101st Machine Gun Company in France during the war, has announced himself as a candidate for the office of secretary of the Massachusetts branch of the American Legion in the September elections. Captain Brickley is a Croix de Guerre and D. S. C. man, as well as having several citations, and is expected to be a strong contender for the place.

Directed by
ALLAN DWAN

An infinitely appealing heroine, portrayed by a wondrously beautiful girl, in a picture alive with thrills, heart-interest, humor, mystery and every other element having motion picture appeal.

A romance that will long be remembered for its gripping interest and tis wholesomeness.

A production to which the greatest artists have given their best efforts with surpassing results.

A really big feature—big in the action that sweeps a little country girl from her simple home into a maelstrom of deceit and treachery on a foreign shore—bigger still in the humanity of the characters and the unexpected dramatic twists of the story.

Thousands have already seen it and expressed their unqualified approval.

Hundreds of thousands will see it and be thrilled, absorbed, spellbound.

CHORUS "GIRLS" PAST 50 BACK ON STAGE

New York, Aug. 20.—Only one issue seemed to stand in the way of an early settlement of the theatrical strike today—recognition by the managers of the Actors' Equity Association. Progress toward settlement was made at the meeting of playwrights, managers and actors, called by Eugene Walter and Avery Hopwood. The conferences were resumed today.

Though the striking actors formerly demanded a closed shop, Paul Turner, attorney for the Equity Association, asserted the players have agreed to renounce such a stand.

Arthur Hopkins, speaking for the managers, declared closed shop established by the Hebrew Actors' Union had forced managers to employ chorus "girls" past the age of fifty.

In the meantime, another theatre, the Henry Miller Theatre, was forced to close last night by stage hands and musicians walking out.

ARLINGTON HAS RECORD, TAX RATE OF $27.40

With several special taxes, including the Boston Elevated Railway tax of nearly $15,000, a record town grant, and higher State, county, metropolitan and park taxes, Arlington will have a record tax rate of $27.40 on each $1,000 this year, according to the assessors, who fixed the rate this morning. This is an increase of $3.20 over last year's rate.

The town has increased in value the past year, the total valuation exceeding $20,000,000, for the first time in the history of the town. There are now 5,231 poll taxpayers, compared with 4,711 last year.

THOUSANDS IN SALEM BUY FOOD AND BLANKETS

Salem people turned out in thousands today to take advantage of the at-cost-plus-one-per-cent sale of army canned goods and bacon in the various schoolhouses under the direction of City Councilors, assisted by Red Cross workers. At the same time Mayor Louis J. Sullivan acted as auctioneer at City Hall in the sale of 600 army blankets at $4.75 each. The extra penny was assessed for transportation charges.

CANADIAN SOLDIER HEADS WAR VETERANS

New Bedford, Aug. 20.—William Bond was elected president of the Great War Veterans' Association, comprising all those men who served under the flag of Great Britain during the war, at a special meeting of the 5,000 members of this organization.

Mr. Bond relinquished his seat in the Common Council that he might aid the land of his birth and served with the Canadian army in France two years.

ARMY SELLING OFF ITS CARRIER PIGEONS

For Skin Made Flabby and Wrinkled by Heat

Sun, winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every line, however caused, by using a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. The ingredients can of course be had at any drug store.

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up quickly for the afternoon or evening, bathe the face for a few moments in the saxolite lotion. You'll find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It is fine for overcoming that appearance of flabbiness so common in hot weather.—Advertisement.

ENTRIES COME FAST FOR BASIN RACE

Miss Florence E. Whittier, class of 1922, College of Liberal Arts, Boston University, whose home is in Dorchester, has entered her name for the big swim to be conducted by the Boston American in the Charles River Basin, Saturday afternoon, August 30.

Miss Whittier is a newspaper woman and is the author of several articles. She "covered" the review of the 26th Division at Camp Devens for a Boston paper and won great praise for the manner in which she described the manoeuvres. She made the trip from Boston to Ayer with the troops.

ADVISES YOUNGSTERS.

"I've been in swimming a few times this year and have tried distance swimming twice this season, once a mile, and a mile and a half at Singing Beach, Manchester-by-the-Sea, where I am working for the summer," writes Miss Whittier.

"I'm going into the race, not for speed, but for distance, being unaccustomed to fresh water, and out of practice. If some of the younger girls who are going into the race would remember that in the end, endurance is more to be desired than speed, they will find they can stay in the water longer with no extra exertion. I find that by taking it easy at first, I get used to the water and can continue swimming about as long as I care to keep going."

The officials for the race are:

Referee, Edward E. Babb, president Boston A. A.; judges, W. F. Garcelon, Boston A. A.; J. Frank Facey, Riverside Boat Club; F. X. McGrath, Boston; William C. Prout, Boston A. A.; Joseph F. WOOD ALCOHOL AS BEVERAGE KILLS THREE

New York, Aug. 20.—Three deaths due to drinking wood alcohol are reported here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Derlinga died shortly after being taken to a hospital, where it was admitted by the victims that alcohol intended for use as a liniment had been mixed with coffee, grape juice and sugar and used internally. Five children survive.

Mrs. Rose Ahmer, fifty, who died shortly after being removed to a hospital, an autopsy revealed, also succumbed to the effects of wool alcohol.

$2,000 PILFERED FINERY FOUND; 3 GIRLS HELD

Fall River, Aug. 19.—Search of the homes of Mrs. Mary Loisell, twenty-four, her fourteen-year-old sister, Mildred Morris, and fifteen-year-old Lydia Sylvia has revealed ladies' wearing apparel to the value of over $2,000 pilfered from four department stores in the downtown district, according to the police. The three are under arrest.

Included in the loot recovered is a beautiful wedding gown which the Sylvia girl, in whose home it was found, said was to be presented to her sister soon to become a bride. The Morris and the Sylvia girls admitted they did most of the shoplifting from the Steiger store, R. A. McWhirr Company, Cherry & Webb and the E. S. Brown Company.

One of the surprising finds was a $275 fur coat stolen on a warm day a couple of weeks ago. The coat was in a glass case. Clerks were hovering near, but one of the little girls not only gained access to the case, but managed to pick out a coat that was very nearly her size. Silk dresses, silk hose, silk underwear, shoes, slippers, parasols, all of fine texture and high-priced, were gathered in by the police. The girls are held for a hearing.

FOUR INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Three women and a man were injured and two other men and a boy were badly shaken up when two automobiles collided at the junction of the State highway and Follen road, in Lexington.

Miss Hazel Bassett of Cambridge was the most seriously injured, being badly cut about the head. Mrs. Mary Miller of Newark, N. J., was cut over the eye, and her husband, Henry Miller, was bruised. Mrs. Frederick E. Snow of No. 117 Bay State road, Boston, sustained an injured knee.

BARNES DECLINES TO TAKE POST IN GERMANY

London, Aug. 20.—George N. Barnes, minister without portfolio in the British Cabinet, has declined the offer of the British ambassadorship to Germany, the Daily Express stated today. Former Food Controller John R. Clynes and Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Labor Party, are now being mentioned in connection with this post.

IRON AND STEEL WORKERS VOTE FOR STRIKE

A. F. of L. Committee of 25 on Organization Meets in Youngstown

Youngstown, O., Aug. 20.—The eyes of the labor world were focussed today on a conference of the committee of twenty-five of the American Federation of Labor, appointed to organize the iron and steel workers of the country.

As the committee met to canvass the strike vote just completed, it was conceded that the sentiment as expressed in the vote would be overwhelmingly for a strike.

The steel men voted on the following ballot:

"The union committees are now seeking to get higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions from the steel companies. Are you willing to back them up to the extent of stopping work should the companies refuse to concede these demands?"

John Fitzpatrick of Chicago, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, presided today and represented President Samuel Gompers.

STRIKE MAY CLOSE ALL CHICAGO THEATRES

By Universal Service.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The closing of every legitimate theatre in Chicago appeared inevitable after leaders of the Stage Hands' Union announced a strike had been called for today.

Dick Green, head of the union, said the strike had been called because Chicago stage hands were not paid the same wages as New York stage hands and also because they want to help the actors in their strike.

BREEZY FARCE MAKES HIT AT PLYMOUTH

Florence Moore Wins New Honors as Star of "Breakfast in Bed"

By FRED J. McISAAC.
Dramatic Editor.

Hearing that the Boston Police were going on a strike, Al H. Woods, the high brow producer, considered the moment right to introduce to Bostonians a delicate little thing entitled "Breakfast in Bed."

This frail and fragrant orchid is being exhibited nightly at the Plymouth Theatre, with Florence Moore as the star. Miss Moore is billed as "The Funniest Girl in the World." I kind of think she is. At this moment I can't remember any comedienne who can extract so many laughs in a limited time as Miss Moore.

To be sure she doesn't care how she gets them. She will stand on her head or bite a gentleman in the ankle if it will tickle the crowd out front. She will say anything, positively anything, and whatever she says she puts over with a biff.

COMEDIENNE THE WHOLE SHOW.

Yes, Florence Moore is funny. After I got away from her influence, I realized that "Breakfast in Bed" leaves a lot to be desired as a work of art, and that Flossie was the "cook and the captain bold, the mate of the Nancy Brig, the boatswain's tight, and the midshipmite and the crew of the captain's gig."

In other words she was ninety-nine and nine-tenths of "Breakfast in Bed." She stood in the centre of the stage for three acts and held the fort. Her support was very rocky, but she struck all her opponents out and knocked enough home runs to win the game.

"Breakfast in Bed" was written by Georges Feydeau, Willard Mack and Hilliard Booth. I can imagine somebody named Hilliard Booth writing a tragedy or a great historical drama but think of him being mixed up in a bedroom farce. Fie upon you, Hilliard. Probably Willard Mack led him astray.

Flossie is the heroine; that is, she is all the heroine who appears in "Breakfast in Bed." The sweet little thing goes to a masquerade ball with a friend of her fiance's. This gentleman, played with ridiculous pomposity by Will Deming, who used to be funny, had to go away at the end of the first act and turned her over to his friend, saying "Take care of Emily."

SHAKE DICE FOR BED.

He did. When we meet them in friend's bedroom next morning Jack is sleeping on a couple of chairs while Emily occupies his bed. He is costumed as Anthony and she as Cleopatra. When they wake up they exchange reminiscences, and it appears they both got gorgeously illuminated and landed in Jack's room. There they shook dice for the bed and Flossie, excuse me, Emily won.

The first ten minutes is devoted to a study of a "hangover" most faithfully exhibited by Miss Moore. After that they climb in and out and under the bed, as different visitors come into the room and out again. One of the visitors is a married woman who is getting divorced so she can marry Jack. She breezes right in and sits on his bed supposing he has not yet arisen. She acts as though she were accustomed to do so.

You can see that the tone of the entertainment is very much to the caviar.

RUN OUT OF PLOT.

They have run out of plot by the last act, and use such ancient fodder as "Sit down, stand up, sit down, stand up," accompanied by stage business that was hoary when Moses went in swimming in the bulrushes.

Miss Moore tried to make a gentleman remove his trousers in full view of the audience, and makes remarks all through the show that might be considered rough in a barroom, now that 2.75 is the best there is to offer.

Leon Gordon plays Jack, the owner of the bed. Mr. Gordon was not cut out for farce and doesn't offer the star any serious competition for laughs.

Helen Cunningham turns herself out as a genuine blonde movie queen, and acts better than most of them. Tommy Meade, another rough diamond, gets a few laughs by rough methods. Others in the cast are Harry Hanlon, Vincent Dennis, Hooper Traske, Fred Strong, Gladys Gilbert, Jules Epailly and Waldo Whipple.

"Breakfast in Bed" is just a title. Nobody eats any breakfast in bed.

HIGHER CARFARES IN PROVIDENCE LIKELY

Providence, Aug. 20.—Receivers of the street railway system told the Public Utilities Commission at a public hearing that the added cost to operate the system would be $440,000 as a result of increase in pay, and recommended shortening the central zone from two miles to one mile and a half with a charge of six cents and a substantial increase all along the line. It was argued that $1,000,000 every six months is required for replacement work now at a standstill.

The receivers, through Clifford Whipple, their counsel, "suggested" the substantial increase, which included a charge of two cents for each transfer in place of one cent now charged. Company officials argued that added revenue of $1,200,000 is absolutely necessary to keep the road in operation.

MISS GLADYS H. ALLEN, well known New England teacher, has been appointed to the faculty of Boston University.

Boston University announces the appointment of Miss Gladys H. Allen, A.B., a graduate of Mount Holyoke College, as instructor in office methods at the new College of Secretarial Science. Miss Allen joins the faculty at B. U. after a successful teaching career in New England schools. She will take up her duties at the beginning of the college year, September 22, and will probably deliver at least one series of lectures during the evening, in addition to those of the day division.

LEGION TO FIND JOBS FOR LEXINGTON MEN

Lexington, Aug. 20.—Clayton G. Locke, employment officer of Stanley Hill Post No. 38, American Legion, will be at the post headquarters in the Bank Building, this evening, from 7 to 8 o'clock, to talk with and help any member of the post, who is without employment or who would like to change his present position.

The post, in this way, hopes to place every discharged service man of Lexington in a good position.

CHARGES PRISONER BEAT UP POLICEMAN

Providence, Aug. 20.—Charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, Angelo Ciarelli, twenty-seven, will be taken to Warren today by Officer James J. Cronin, who says Ciarelli brought a "gang" from Bristol, August 6, and beat up Cronin, Town Clerk John McPike and Martin W. O'Neil, a business man, who tried to assist Cronin in arresting Ciarelli.

Joseph Ciarelli, a brother, is held in $4,000 bail in connection with the fracus.

REXALL MEN SEE LABORATORY WONDERS

United Drug Company Stockholders, in Convention Here, Inspect Their Properties

An inspection of the mammoth establishment of the United Drug Company was the feature of the second day of the stockholders' convention which has brought 4,000 Rexall men to Boston. Despite war conditions, enormous extensions have been made to the company's laboratories and factories since the company's stockholders gathered here a year ago.

A ball at Revere tonight is the chief entertainment feature scheduled for today.

More than 4,000 delegates were in attendance when President Louis K. Liggett opened the convention in Symphony Hall.

HEAR JOHN McCORMACK.

After a day of almost continuous business by the men, sessions being held in the morning and afternoon, the entire gathering again packed Symphony Hall to hear John McCormack, who gave a special concert. It was the first opportunity of many of the people to hear the noted singer, and he was received enthusiastically, rewarding his admirers with an extended program of his popular songs.

The women guests had more leeway than the men, part of their day being given over to pleasure. For while the men sat in the hall the women enjoyed a sixty-mile tour of Greater Boston in 150 automobiles. Lunch was served at the Blue Hill Reservation.

The convention was opened by Bishop Edmund Hughes, who offered a prayer. Following him Governor Coolidge, in a brief address, welcomed the delegates, and then Mr. Liggett addressed those present.

All day long visitors made their way through the display rooms at Horticultural Hall, which has been engaged especially for the display of the United Drug Company products. The display is one of the most picturesque ever arranged in Boston.

Between the business sessions for the men luncheon was served for them under an enormous tent at the old American League baseball grounds at Huntington avenue.

FOREIGN DELEGATES SPEAK.

At the afternoon session of the convention the meeting was addressed by Sir Thomas Robinson of Dublin, Ireland; Edmund Carpenter of Bristol, England; Edwin Thompson of Liverpool, England; H. W. Gray of Wilton, North Dakota; M. M. Taylor of Tampa, Florida; George Gills of New York, president of the L. K. Liggett Company; J. H. Allan of Ottawa, president of the United Drug Company of Canada; and Thomas Breen, manager of the One Cent Sales' Department.

The English delegates, referring to business relations between the United States and England, told of the growing demand for United States products in England.

TWO BOYS JAILED FOR HOLDUP IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Aug. 20.—Judge J. J. Mahoney sentenced William Mills and Louis Meinhold, two youths, to Concord reformatory for robbing Robert Taylor in an alleyway leading from Park street.

It was claimed that the victim was pushed into the dark alleyway and severely beaten by the youths. His watch and pocketbook containing a small sum of money were taken.

The watch was pawned, giving the police a quick clew which led to the arrest of Mills and Meinhold.

Both defendants claimed that they did not intend to rob Taylor. They said they had found the property he missed in the alley after the tussel. The judge was not inclined to believe the story.

THREE SEEK SPENCER'S TWO BAR LICENSES

Spencer, Aug. 20.—The biggest item at the meeting of the selectmen tomorrow night will be to consider three more applications for liquor licenses. Three have been granted and three more applications will be advertised the required ten days by Thursday night. The town is only entitled to five.

TAYLOR SECRETARY OF NORTH ADAMS CHAMBER

North Adams, Aug. 20.—E. Clement Taylor of Springfield, for some time past an organizer for the American City Bureau, has been elected secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce.

DRAPER FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Hopedale, Aug. 20.—The funeral of Mrs. Susan Preston Draper, widow of General W. F. Draper, will occur tomorrow at 3 o'clock at the family tomb, used as a chapel for the occasion, in Hopedale Village cemetery, open to the public. The Episcopal ritual will be used, Rev. Roland C. Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Washington, officiating, assisted by Rev. Dudley Tyng, Milford. A male quartet will sing. Prince and Princess Boncompagni arrived this morning and will probably remain at her parents' old home, the Draper Mansion, Adin road, which has been opened by the servants. The Washington home of the Drapers is also opened.

DOZEN SEEK PERMITS TO OPERATE JITNEYS

Applications for jitney licenses continue to flow into City Hall, bringing the number up to twelve, with promise of more to follow.

The new applications will be considered by the City Council committee on jitneys which is expected to report to the City Council within the next few days, the committee having voted unanimously on Monday in favor of the establishment of jitney routes.

Invite Soldiers to Clambake

Milford, Aug. 20.—Milford Indians have invited all members of the club, who participated in the World War, to its annual clam bake at "Rock Rest," Lake Nipmuc, Sunday afternoon.

MANY SALES OF NEW SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Hundreds of the new government Treasury Savings Certificates have been sold in New England since they were placed on sale Monday. These certificates, which are issued in denominations of $100 and $1,000, are proving especially popular mediums of investment to fraternal, social, religious and other large organizations which desire to invest part of their savings in government securities.

The maximum amount of the new securities which one individual may hold is $1,000. The $100 certificates may be converted into the $1,000 certificates when their amount reaches the selling price of the larger denomination.

These new government Treasury Certificates may be secured at all banks, trust companies and all post-offices of the first and second class.

Annual August Fur Sale

Mole Coat, Hudson Seal Collar, Cuffs and Border, $395

THERE is no telling when, if ever, we'll be able to offer such values again, certainly not this year.

In every instance where we re-order a fur garment, we have found we must pay 25% to 40% more than when we bought these furs. In some instances today's wholesale price—at which we must re-order when this sale is over—is as much as our August Sale price.

The old law of supply and demand is sending prices on fur skins soaring. Europe is outbidding us for furs. The fur coat is everywhere the accepted winter garment. There is a world shortage of furs. Labor was never so high.

20% deposit may be paid, if furs are not wanted immediately, balance on delivery not later than Dec. 1. Furs bought in this sale stored and insured without charge until Dec. 1, if desired.

In the midst of the present scarcity, we're glad to be able to offer the balance of our summer stock of Manhattan Shirts at the usual end-of-the-season price reductions.

Manhattan Shirts are too well known to need any detailed recital of their merits at this time. It should be remembered, however, that the Manhattan people never put out any "sale stuff," and that the shirts we now offer at genuine, worth-while price reductions are the balance of our own regular summer stock.

While we undoubtedly have the largest and best selected stock of Manhattans in town, it is not so large a stock as we usually offer in the half-yearly sale, so you'd better come early for good picking. Small sizes are especially scarce.

That's [illegible] by Fitchburg Pat.
Songs of the Bleachers

By NICK FLATLEY.

The Reds are here. Over in Russia that means consternation, but in this part of [illegible] it means much joy for the regular baseball fan. He likes to see a champion team better than a [illegible] likes to get a base hit. And the Reds sure are a champion team this 1919 season.

They have trampled all over the National League, especially the chesty Giants, and apparently are on a real drive for the barrier somewhat after the fashion of the Braves a few years back. [illegible] Just before coming here they jumped on the Brooklyn Dodgers for a double [illegible], and the Robins were doing [illegible] to keep the New Yorks [illegible] of the league somewhere in the race.

These Reds, led by Pat Moran, who [illegible] with the greatest [illegible] of baseball, started off the season [illegible] fashion. But it didn't take them long to get going [illegible] ... the National League has boasted in [illegible].

TEAM WORK AND PITCHING.

[illegible] team has stars, but its greatness depends more on cohesive play and [illegible] pitching than any individual super-brilliance. Like all champion outfits, the Reds are strongly fortified in the hurling department. Reuther, Eller, Sallee and Ring have furnished the Morans with more than enough sharp-shooting to be comfortably at the crest with some six weeks of the season stretching ahead.

Our [illegible] friend Sherwood Magee [illegible], landed with a champion team and is [illegible] at left field [illegible] as he did when he was [illegible] of baseball's [illegible] sensations. You could go down the line with the team and say a lot of nice things about each and every athlete, but the baseball populace will notice them all anyhow in the next three days.

The Reds may have flattened the Giants and the Dodgers in double headers, but they can't do that to the Braves—there aren't any dual clashes on the program. And in passing it might be mentioned that the leaders will not have any soft romp at the home of extra innings.

GETTING REAL PITCHING.

Stallings is getting some real pitching nowadays, and that is sufficient to worry anybody. Cecil Algernon Causey, who hopped back into fame by chucking a nice game against the Pirates the other evening, was billed to tackle the invaders, while Walter Rausher was the logical Moran selection. And Patricius works them in order.

Reuther, by the way, has tossed by far the best ball in the National League this year and is piling up a record that's likely to be something to shoot at. One good thing about the series: it should attract some crowds and stir up quite a bit of enthusiasm. And the showers and things have blotted that out lately hereabouts.

The Braves and Cards wound up with another of those extra inning double-headers, Boston losing the first 4 to 2 because the Tribe couldn't knock off enough runs for [illegible] Fillingim, and grabbing the finale 2 to 1 in eleven chapters.

KEATING DESERVES WIN.

[illegible] Keating tossed a great game in the long battle and deserved the victory, although he didn't have much of a margin on Lefty Sherdel. The windup of the pastime was sensational in the extreme. In the eleventh the hostiles had the corners loaded with two out. McHenry blazed a liner to centre that looked like a hit for all the world.

But James Thorpe came flashing in, just as if he were running for a touchdown, and made a thrilling shoe string catch which erased exactly three St. Louis runs as everybody was going when the ball was hit. Then Cruise hopped up in the ultimate part and thumped out a single. He was suicided along by Holke, and Les Mann proceeded to close the long afternoon. The soaring fly he lifted over Heathcote's head would have been good for a homer in any league, had such a thing been necessary.

It gave the Braves an even break for the day anyway, and sent the fans who lingered home happy.

How to Play Baseball

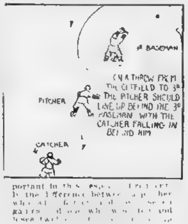
THIS is the seventy-sixth of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." In this lesson Mr. Fullerton tells how to back up plays. These articles will be a feature of the American's sport pages each day. [illegible] miss them.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON

Examine the work of any championship ball club and compare it with that of a tail end team of the same class and you will discover one essential difference, that the winning team backs up all plays and the chronic loser seldom is in position to head off a badly thrown ball.

Backing up plays is one of the [illegible] vital elements in a ball [illegible]. Every play on [illegible] should be backed up. There is no exception [illegible] "breaks" of a ba[illegible] possible for every [illegible] play to be safeguarded [illegible] only one of [illegible].

The defensive work of the pitcher is of course the [illegible]



ON A THROW FROM THE OUTFIELD TO 3d THE PITCHER SHOULD LINE UP BEHIND THE 3d BASEMAN WITH THE CATCHER FALLING IN BEHIND HIM

[illegible] important in this respect. [illegible] is the difference between a pitcher who [illegible] and [illegible] games [illegible] loses [illegible] plays [illegible] his work finished [illegible] the ball over the plate.

The [illegible] "free agent" after [illegible] batted or thrown into play, as the widest range of [illegible] man on the field if he [illegible] to assist [illegible] his own game. In backing up catchers on hits thrown to the plate he [illegible] and. When a runner is scoring and the ball is coming from the outfield the pitcher should be behind the catcher [illegible] ready to retrieve [illegible]. Some teams permit the pitcher to remain in the centre of the diamond [illegible] the ball or break it down and throw back to the bases.

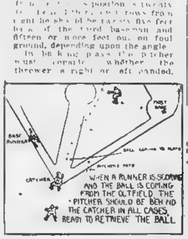
The weakness of this system is that a pitcher works only once in four or five days and is not therefore as familiar with the inside play as the regulars are. On such plays the first baseman should take the ball on the infield and the pitcher [illegible] up. In backing up the first baseman on throws [illegible] second or short the pitcher makes himself doubly useful.

There are many balls hit to short or second on which the pitcher has sufficient time to cross the line ahead of the runner and back up first, especially in cases when the catcher dare not leave the plate unguarded to do the backing up. On a throw from the outfield to third base the pitcher should cut across at top speed and line up behind the third baseman with the catcher falling in behind [illegible] a second safeguard [illegible] the first base [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] ground, depending upon the angle.

In backing plays the pitcher must consider whether the thrower is right or left handed,



WHEN A RUNNER IS SCORING AND THE BALL IS COMING FROM THE OUTFIELD THE PITCHER SHOULD BE BEHIND THE CATCHER IN ALL CASES READY TO RETRIEVE THE BALL

[illegible] must watch this [illegible] as the majority of [illegible] a baseman do so because of the quick change of angle due to striking the ground.

BRITISH ATROCITIES IN THE REVOLUTION.

During the American Revolution, Benjamin Franklin arranged to have thirty-six pictures of British atrocities engraved in France in order, as Franklin explained in a letter to an Englishman, "to impress the minds of children and posterity with a deep sense of your bloody and insatiable malice and wickedness." Edward F. McSweeney refers to this incident in his great article on "Ireland an American Question," appearing tomorrow in the Boston American. The reference is used as an illustration to prove that recent reports of brutality in Ireland have a precedent.

GARDNER'S GOLF PRAISED BY OUIMET

By FRANCIS OUIMET

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20.—There were many notable [illegible] at Oakmont Country Club in the first round of match play for the American amateur championship. Foremost of these was the great match between Bob Gardner and Max Marston. Both played [illegible] golf [illegible].

First [illegible] was Marston [illegible] started the fireworks [illegible] for the first nine [illegible] three-hole lead. He [illegible] by the time [illegible] at the fifteenth tee. Then Gardner won three holes back by playing the next three in two better than par. Again, Max started off with a rush and once more led by five holes. Bob cut loose and [illegible] stop, reeling off birdie after birdie and par after par [illegible] could live [illegible]. Gardner won 3 and 1. He has proven himself to be the same [illegible] fighting player of old and [illegible] take a lot of beating before he is through.

OTHER SENSATIONS.

Some of the other matches appear to have created a sensation. Such as Platt over Anderson and Hoffner over Waite. The truth of the matter is [illegible] young stars unheard of before [illegible] entered this championship and been given little [illegible] are good golfers and good enough [illegible].

[illegible] Travers and Waldo was a surprise [illegible] Waldo [illegible] good golfer [illegible] defeated [illegible] unexpected. Waldo [illegible] be remembered was the fellow who beat Harold Hilton the English [illegible] when the latter was defending [illegible] at the Chicago Golf Club in 1912.

Imitating the Opal

THE opal is more difficult to imitate than is the diamond. But from artificial corundum, stained with chromo alum, real rubies can be made and very cheaply. If the coloring agent is titanium oxide, the product becomes a genuine artificial sapphire.

Neglected Sisterhood Seeking Solution of Problem at Hands of the Noted Author

By Beatrice Fairfax

(Who occupies a unique position in the writing world as an authority on the problems of girls)

JUDGING from [illegible] be an [illegible] of girls [illegible] are qua[illegible] come under this heading. They are good, often they are [illegible] frequently they are pretty—but the men pass them by, and offer flowers, candy and "the devotion of a lifetime" to less favored damsels.

Why is it the neglected sisterhood [illegible] me with the touching [illegible]? And [illegible] the say [illegible] tion I should have made a discovery more valuable than Madame Curie when she succeeded in separating radium from pitchblende. I should be in the class with Galileo, Newton and other epoch making geniuses, and I should have found out something that has been puzzling thinkers since the days when our aboreal ancestors (feminine) stopped hurling cocoanuts at their hated rivals and went off to primp at the nearest stream.

No One Can Define Charm

No, we don't know why one woman has charm and another hasn't, why one repels and another attracts. [illegible] theories have been written on the subject. We know that it's true and we make the best of it.

Some authorities claim that radiant health and vitality have much to do with the magic. But who has not seen the girl a picture of health, and with good looks to boot, holding up the wall at a dance?

And who does not recall downright ugly and even unwholesome-looking women, who number their conquests by the score. A French woman, perhaps, can do more with a poor hand in the way of appearance, than any other woman in the world. Every tourist who has spent a fortnight in Paris will recall the type I mean.

She may be almost ill-favored, yet she dominates her appearance with such intelligence as to be all but irresistible. Her clothes "hang" wonderfully, they bring out every good line. Each point to the lady's credit flowers with positive genius. The arch of the eyebrows, the wave of the hair or its silky straightness if she declines to wave it—these piquancies dawn on one's consciousness gradually—making mere prettiness appear almost cheap by contrast.

And every woman, if she will only take the time and thought, may do as much for herself. Let her study her type and work out the problem. She may seek expert advice in regard to her hair, complexion and clothes, but let her make sure before seeking it that the advice is both intelligent and disinterested.

Clothes are a tremendous help to the girl who does not attract men. They need not be extravagant, but they should be considered with prayer and fasting. The average man enjoys the distinction of being seen with a fashion plate, just as he would shun the noblest of her sex if she were conspicuously a frump.

[illegible] shown [illegible] illustrative [illegible] eminence [illegible] doesn't attract [illegible] power," [illegible] let her [illegible]

And surely it is within the power of every woman to offer a good cup of tea—or [illegible] water, a fresh [illegible] of your favorite [illegible] something that [illegible] not at the best [illegible].

And as for coffee, the woman who has mastered the art of making a perfect cup of coffee might almost [illegible].

[illegible] I mean [illegible] trained servants [illegible] can [illegible] a little [illegible] work.

Another [illegible] for the girl who does not attract men is to join forces with some other girl in the same boat and together they sit—at a dance, party, or a porch at [illegible] resort [illegible] form [illegible] a partnership. [illegible] are more [illegible] attention [illegible]

Man and Monkey

By Garrett P. Serviss.

AT the American Museum of Natural History they are assembling groups of lifelike figures intended to form a systematic series illustrating the various species in the [illegible] Primates from the lemur [illegible] principal races of man. The latest addition [illegible] group showing a [illegible] pygmies [illegible] hunter who brings [illegible] antelope [illegible]

The [illegible] at [illegible] eight [illegible] light yellowish brown to black, are said to be the most [illegible] of the known [illegible] in Africa.

Nothing [illegible] to a person [illegible] facts and theories of evolutionary anthropology than a visit to this human family gallery [illegible] of Frederick the Great [illegible] Hohenzollern Museum at Berlin, typical individuals of different races of the Primates are shown in [illegible] dignified, but also less [illegible] and sophisticated, than those that a portrait painter would have bestowed upon them.

They all have the [illegible] look, until you [illegible] the gap which separates the lowest of the men from the highest of the apes. You feel as you look into those savage faces, however base the features may be, that, in an emergency, you could trust to the fundamental human nature behind them, no trace of which you can detect in the lemur or the ape. Somehow you are sure that you could make the lowest savage understand reason, [illegible] and yield to voluntary sympathy, mercy. But there is not the faintest glimmer of any of these things in the face of such a creature as the gorilla. It contains absolutely nothing that you could appeal to.

If a savage had you down on the forest floor with his club upraised, a word [illegible] might save your life. But [illegible] anthropoid would be no more affected by such an appeal than [illegible]

So you feel that the declared purpose of these graphic representations, which is to carry the [illegible] from the [illegible] to man [illegible] the anatomical [illegible] between the [illegible] ways [illegible] argument [illegible] evolutionary [illegible] interrupting [illegible] know it, which, as soon as you quit the criteria of anatomy and take up [illegible] becomes a chasm wider than that separating the earth from the stars. From the lemur to man the gap in the record is incomparably greater than that between the lowest primeval and the highest civilized human race. Besides, the difference appears to be qualitative, not quantitative. The human quality is apparent in every act that we can trace of the ancient river drift and cave men, but there is no such quality apparent in any ape or monkey.

Yet, I fully believe that out of the mammalian stock from which sprang the apes and monkeys sprang man also. The great problem is: Where, when, and how was the element that we call [illegible] introduced and what have been the steps of its progress?

Between the lemur, the gorilla, the chimpanzee, on one side and man on the other side, the physical line of connection uniting these branches of the Primates disappears in the mists of past time or dips down out of sight into the geological strata.

"I'M not getting much chance for a quiet word alone with you," murmured Pat toward the end of the dinner. "You wouldn't let me walk home with you, would you?"

"Why not?" I replied, wondering as I spoke just where this very subdued Pat came from.

Evidently Carlotta also wondered, for suddenly she broke out on the [illegible] note that was to me the most grating thing in her whole vivid personality.

"Patsy, why the saintly air? Are you having a dress-rehearsal of the [illegible] situation you'll soon have to meet?"

Pat's face crimsoned and his blue eyes darkened to sombre black. I could see that Carlotta had attacked a vulnerable spot, and I wondered if his reply would be [illegible] with wrath. But when it came it had the lilt of his Irish cheer for all its undercurrent of bitterness.

"[illegible] the flash of your eyes will always stimulate me [illegible] cheers [illegible] glass that [illegible]"

"[illegible] would take a dozen [illegible] and a glass thrown [illegible] cheer you up tonight," repeated Carlotta a trifle bitterly, and then [illegible] undertone which I wish might have escaped me, "Anyway I can't cheer you up tonight and it's the first time I've [illegible]. Why is that?"

Each new note seemed more jarring to the conversation and [illegible] nerves than the last, and I was heartily glad when we arrived at the demitasse stage, and the end of our dinner was [illegible]

"then that's all right. I'm glad Jeanie doesn't want to cut me off your list, Mrs. Jimmie. Somehow I want you to be my friend, but not at the price of her friendship. If it ever comes to choosing between us, take her."

"It won't come to"—I began, but Pat interrupted.

"Still, if ever you must drop one of us, make it Pat Dalton. Promise! Promise you'll stick to Jeanie as long as she'll let you!" Promise!"

"I promise!" I replied, trying to laugh off lightly even while I wondered uneasily if ever it would come to a choice.

An Understanding

"All right—that's understood; and if you ever cut me dead, I won't have the law on you for it. . . . Now I'll [illegible] your permission to [illegible] right into the midst of Har[illegible], Mrs. Jimmie."

Stocks Were Irregular at Noon in New York and Boston

UNITED FRUIT STRONG IN BOSTON

Swift & Co. Weakened During Morning on the Local Exchange

At the opening prices averaged higher on the Boston Exchange, but the market became irregular within an hour and had not changed materially from the close position by noon.

Stocks to advance during the morning included American Woolen preferred, Copper Range (ex-dividend), United Fruit, United Shoe, United Drug, Carson Hill, National Leather and Mexican Investments. At their best they were up from fractions to more than three or four points. The largest gain was by United Fruit.

Swift & Co. began unchanged and after making a small gain began to weaken. In the second hour it was off more than two points. St. Mary's Land dropped five on one transaction. Among other weak issues were Boston Elevated, Allouez, Mayflower-Old Colony, Osceola, Ventura, Davis Daly and Booth Fisheries. Coppers were lower as a class and not traded in to any great extent. Carson Hill, National Leather and Swift & Co. were active during the forenoon.

Strength of United Drug was attributed to its favorable report as to half year earnings.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

George R. [illegible], president of the R. H. White Co., has been elected a director of the Fourth Atlantic National Bank to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robert W. Williamson.

Mayflower-Old Colony has found native copper in fair volume at a depth of 1,103 feet, but not in such quantity as to indicate the lode has been reached. The management had not expected to reach the Mayflower lode before late in October, drill cores showing the formation at 1,700 feet.

The National Leather Co.'s incorporation papers have been filed at Portland, Me. It is capitalized at $[illegible] and will take over the leather and tanning interests of Swift & Co.

It is costing Calumet and Arizona but 12½ cents a pound to mine copper and [illegible] it in New York City.

Cotton Market Opens Lower

New York, Aug. 20.—Demand was scattered at the opening of the cotton market, first prices showing losses of 15 to 34 points. Liverpool and the South sold and there was room pressure. The weather map was favorable and belief obtained that the week's government weather report would be bearish. At the end of twenty minutes the market was easy and about 30 points net lower. Opening prices were: October, 30.80; December, 30.80; January, 30.80; March, 30.75; May, 30.77.

PROFIT TAKING AFTER EARLY ADVANCE

New York Market Opens Strong, but Forenoon Trading Is Dull

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, profit-taking in the second hour wiping out early advances of many issues. Before the end of the forenoon the market verged on dullness. There was a rally by 12 o'clock. Trading was dull measured by the average volume for the past six months. First hour transactions totalled less than 200,000 shares. Sterling exchange dropped to the lowest record figure of $4.11.

Gains at noon included Marine common 1½ at 52½, preferred 1 at 113¼, Atlantic Gulf 1½ at 144 and General Motors 1¼ at 212½.

Among declines were Car & Foundry 2⅝ at 122, Sumatra 5 at 78, Baldwin 1⅝ at 102¾, Bethlehem B 1 at 81⅝, Keystone 3 at 78, Mexican Petroleum 1⅝ at 168½, Tobacco Products 1½ at 92½ and U. S. Rubber 1⅝ at 118½. Steels and oils had weakened, while shipping shares had advanced.

U. S. Steel was off ⅛ at 100⅞, after ranging from 100½ to 101⅞.

Call money was quoted at 4½ per cent.

STRONG AT OPENING.

The market had a strong start, opening prices not only ruling higher but the advance being general. Many gains were a point or more. Steels led the advance. Strongest issues at the outset included Car & Foundry, Bethlehem B, Crucible, General Motors, Retail Stores, Pan American, Tobacco Products and Industrial Alcohol. General Motors began with nearly three points gain. Increased buying by wire houses indicated the public is venturing back. Covering of shorts was continued. Bulls, who are not as numerous as they were a month ago, were encouraged. The technical condition of the market has been radically altered. It is figured than loans by Wall street brokers now approximate $1,300,000,000, which would mean a 10 per cent. reduction in the total within ten days. Prices were well maintained during the first hour. In fact, they reached a still higher level although there was immediate profit-taking in a number of issues. After opening fractionally lower, Mexican Petroleum rallied, and soon showed more than two points gain. Ajax Rubber was weak, receding six points within an hour.

QUICK RECOVERY A SURPRISE.

In some respects the reaction on Monday was the worst known this year and by many operators was believed to be the beginning of a continuous decline. The recovery at the following opening and the strength shown by the market when bears resumed raiding was a surprise to banking interests as well as to the rank and file of traders. The steadiness displayed was said by cheerful persons to be proof that fundamentally considered the present valuation of securities is now not high. In spite of labor unrest, the slump in foreign exchange and uncertainty engendered by the investigation of commodity and food prices it is believed that the Autumn will be a rarely prosperous business season.

BANK DEPOSITS INCREASE.

The latest condition reports by national banks show a remarkable increase in deposits between May 12 and June 30. They expanded $21,069,000 to $15,924,865,000, the largest gain for such a period ever known. Within five years, or since the beginning of the war, deposits have increased almost $5,000,000,000. Nothing in the banking history of any country parallels this.

It is stated in New York that the drop in sterling exchange caused selling of securities by London in the former market. British holdings of American stocks and bonds are supposed to be small compared with such ownership in the past. But sales from this source are said to average $2,000,000 a week since early in June. The discount of about 14 per cent. on sterling is to the advantage of British sellers.

Another report as to foreign financing is that the French government is making inquiries in New York banking circles preparatory to seeking a loan in this country of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000.

BIG INCREASE EXPECTED IN TOBACCO PRODUCTION

It is believed in the trade that tobacco production in this country for 1919 should exceed the crop of last year by approximately 210,000,000 pounds. The estimate is based upon the fact that tobacco acreage of 1918 was 1,549,000 acres, while this year it is 1,774300 acres. A larger crop will not cheapen prices to the consumer, however.

European liking for American tobacco has been increased so by the war that demand will be greater than the supply. Most of the tobacco grown this year is for chewing, pipe and snuff consumption. According to the government estimate, cigar tobacco production will be 22,380,000 pounds less this year than last.

Grain Prices

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Corn opened ¼ to 1½c higher. Oats were unchanged to ⅛c higher. Provisions opened higher. Opening prices were: Corn—September, 1.84½; December, 1.44⅝ to 1.45½; May, 1.39¾ to 1.40. Oats—December, 75⅝ to 75½; May, 78⅝. Lard—September, 28.65; October, 28.60.

U. S. SECOND IN BEET SUGAR PRODUCTION

The United States was fifth among countries as a beet sugar producer before the war, but that titanic struggle so interfered with the industry in Europe that this country will now rank second, only to Germany in that respect.

Latest estimates, says the National City Bank of New York, put the production of Germany this year at about 1,400,000 tons, while that of Czecho-Slovakia, Ukraine and Poland will apparently fall materially below that of the United States, which, for the current year, will range between 700,000 and 800,000 tons, estimated upon known figures of acreage and dependent to a considerable degree upon weather conditions, but indicating clearly that our total will exceed that of any country except Germany, and that we are likely to retain indefinitely and perhaps permanently this new second rank among the world's producers of beet sugar.

Decline of Sterling

When demand sterling was quoted as low as $4.19, the prediction of Sir George Paish, an eminent British economist, was recalled. He said the pound sterling might easily sink to $4 valuation in the exchange market. The latest slump in sterling exchange was because Lloyd George told the House of Commons that import restrictions would be lifted by the British government on September 1.

RENT 'GOUGERS' FACE PROBE BY STATE

Commission to Hear Both Sides as Result of Many Complaints

The Commission on the Necessaries of Life will hold a public hearing on the rent question at 10 o'clock, August 28, in the State House. Complaints of rent profiteering have been so numerous that the commission has decided to consider the subject on a broad basis, and to give both tenants and landlords an opportunity to be heard.

Various improvement associations and other organizations are taking great interest in this subject and will probably be represented at the hearing. The complaints have not been confined to Boston, but have come from various sections of the State.

By obtaining figures showing the assessed valuation of property, rents received during 1916, 1917, 1918 and the present year, increased taxes, labor and repair charges, the commission will be able to figure out whether or not a landlord is receiving a just return on his investment.

City Loans

Fall River will receive bids until 10:30 a. m. August 21 for purchase of $30,000 4½ per cent. bonds, dated August 1 and maturing $6,000 each year August 1, 1920, to 1924 inclusive.

Worcester, Mass., has sold to the Park Trust Company of Worcester at 4.37 per cent. discount a temporary loan of $150,000, dated August 20 and maturing November 20, 1919.

Quincy has awarded $49,600 4½ per cent. bonds, dated June 1 and maturing $10,000 on June 1, 1920, $10,000 June 1, 1921-1923, inclusive, and $9,000 on June 1, 1924, to S. N. Bond & Company at 100, plus $67 premium.

Joplin Zinc Prices

Zinc ore sold in the Joplin market at from $46.50 to $48.50 last week, while lead remained unchanged at $62.50.

Furniture.

NO AUGUST SALES

here this year because the factories have not any specials to close out, and worse than that they are unable to deliver goods ordered in March and April, at prices that are sky-high. Under these conditions, do you believe merchants are selling goods at a big cut in price when they cannot replace them at higher prices?—facts you ought to consider.

BUT

Our Big Uptown Store, knowing well you appreciate facts and honest treatment

WILL GIVE YOU 10%

discount on any article of Home Furnishing you may select this month, because this is the dullest month in the furniture trade. To stimulate and keep up sales, we offer this big inducement on furniture that is regularly priced lower than the so-called sales prices, because we are uptown with low expenses, and anticipated the rise in prices. Select this month what you may need—pay a deposit—then pay something each week—they will be all paid for when you need them. We will store free until wanted all goods bought this month.

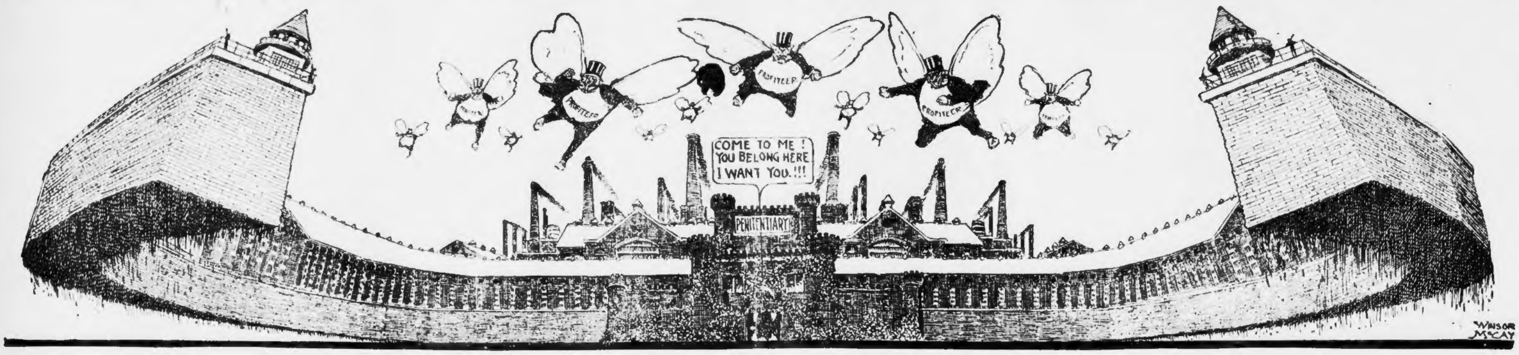
Prison Bars Will Put Fear in Profiteers' Hearts



Attorney-General Palmer asks Congress to add imprisonment to the fines which are now the only penalty for profiteering.

The American is with Mr. Palmer in this matter.

Throw the profiteers in jail!

Nothing else has the slightest effect.

Fines don't hinder these rascals.

Any practiced profiteer can make enough illegitimate profit to pay his fines and keep on profiteering.

Fines are merely licenses to profiteer.

Look at the New York Central.

That railroad was continually convicted of rebating, continually fined and it continued to rebate.

Why?

Because it can make enough by breaking the law to pay its fines and leave a handsome profit besides.

It PAYS the New York Central to break the law.

That's why it does it.

That's why it will keep on doing it, as long as the penalty for breaking the law is only giving up A PART of the profit it makes by law-breaking.

But suppose the law had jail teeth in it.

That would be different.

One Vanderbilt or one Rockefeller put behind the bars in years gone by would have stopped the whole illegal practice.

That you can be sure of.

Only jail penalties count with these money-mad profiteers.

Fines don't frighten them.

Fines don't deter them.

But jail doors and iron bars—those do put fear in their hearts.

They think twice before reaching out their greedy hands for the earnings and savings of the people, if the shadow of the penitentiary falls between them and their prey.

And don't they deserve to go to prison?

The thief who snatches a pocketbook or who steals a pair of shoes or who robs the baker or the butcher of bread or meat goes to jail—and generally deserves to go.

We say this is the right thing, because society must be protected.

Well, then, what do these profiteers do that is any different?

They rob the people's tables; they steal the people's money; they take food and clothing from the people's families; they steal the wages of workingmen and workingwomen.

UNITED STATES ATTORNEY-GENERAL A. MITCHELL PALMER.

They are meaner than any highwayman, meaner than any sneak-thief—because they have not even the poor courage to risk resistance of their victims or to chance going to prison.

The only courage they have is the courage to steal at long range and when they know that they are perfectly safe.

And they are the most contemptible thieves in the world.

They even rob babies!

Yes, sir; they do that very thing.

They steal the babies' milk.

Why, a yellow dog won't do that—not if he knows the milk is the baby's milk.

Talk about jail penalties being "too drastic" for such thieves.

That's what some Congressman said the other day—"too drastic," he said.

Too drastic!

Why, jail terms are TOO GOOD for such miserable, cowardly, greedy sneak-thieves!

They ought to spend the rest of their lives breaking stone in a penitentiary quarry.

Attorney-General Palmer is absolutely right in this matter.

The Congress ought to do what he asks.

Folks are good and mad about this profiteering.

It isn't just a few folks, or a majority of folks who are mad.

It's everybody.

The whole country is indignant.

There will be trouble if the Congress does not go after these scoundrels with a real club and hit them a clout or two that will knock them out.

Just taking away a part of these profiteers' stealings in the shape of fines isn't going to satisfy the people.

The people will not be satisfied with slapping profiteers on the wrist.

They want the Government to hit profiteering on the head—and hit it hard.

It is a proposal that has a bite in it—a proposal that will put the fear of the law into the hearts of these thieves.

Think of men who can actually be so unspeakably mean and contemptible as to coin into illegal profit the patriotism, the sacrifices and the necessities of the very families who have just given their sons to the nation in a war waged to protect the lives and the properties of these very same exploiters and thieves!

Can villainy itself imagine anything baser or more vile than such conduct?

You don't think jail terms are "too drastic" for such thieves, do you, folks?

In jails with rock-piles, too.

Men who refused to do army duty were sent to the penitentiary for long terms—some for life.

And what comparison is there between the treason of a poor devil who refused to carry a gun and the treason of the rich scoundrels who rob the wives and widows and mothers and sisters of the men who did carry the guns—yes, and rob the men who carried the guns?

Even the jails would be ashamed of their company.

They ought to be herded on one of the big Alaskan islands, given some tools and fish-hooks and told to rustle a living out of the land and the sea or starve.

That's what they have said to millions of better folks—said even to little children—the mean baby robbers.

Not the Least of the Worries Is the High Cost of Drugs

The prevalent inquiry by every variety of public official into the abnormal costs of things ought not to overlook the excessive prices which are being charged for many drugs.

Dependence on German chemists and German patents, with war interruption of imports, was the explanation given four years ago when drug prices began to advance sharply.

This explanation was true, and it made plain for the first time how reckless our country had been in leaning so strongly on another nation for vital supplies.

But since that time the skill of American chemists, we have been proudly told, has bridged most of these deficits. We are now, for example, making better drugs of the coal tar derivatives than we used to buy from Germany, and it costs less to make than to import them.

Nevertheless, the retail prices of most drugs, including many of those supposed to be included in these triumphs of native chemical genius, remains high. Some are quite beyond the reach of the average purse.

Profiteering knows no scruples.

It prompts the Milk Trust to starve babies, the Food and Fuel Trusts to starve and freeze both old and young and the Coffin Trust to assess a ghastly extortion upon the dead.

Is it at work among drugs?

Must sickness, too, pay toll to remorseless greed?

Let the probe be aimed at the pharmacies, also.

Revolution Justifiable?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1919)

One fact lights up an entire landscape, like a flash of lightning in the night.

Read Fennimore Cooper's description of his friends, the Red Skins, so brave, so eloquent, and you almost wish you were an Indian.

Then, read the plain narrative of one of the Catholic priests that went out preaching Christianity and risking their lives among savages, the description of a young warrior caught by an enemy tribe, tortured, and then eaten, or another description of a mother and father compelled to look on while their child was tortured by the Indians, sheds a new light on the Indian character. You are reconciled to the elimination of the Red Skin by pitiless civilization.

Similarly, in regard to Japan, there is a big difference between the poetry of Lafcadio Hearn and reality's rough prose.

One despatch tells you that the Koreans are made into good servile Japanese with ninety strokes of a heavy bamboo for each Korean. That is enlightening.

The Japanese Crown Prince, son of the great Mikado, now celebrates his coming of age at 18.

The Mikado in full regalia walks out into the court of honor with all the nobles bowing low.

His majesty's cousin of the sun and moon makes a deep bow to the holy sanctuary, sits on his throne.

Out of a door comes something crawling on its hands and knees. The something is the Crown Prince, crawling along on the ground to the feet of his father, in accordance with the ancient custom.

This sheds light, or at least it puzzles you. You ask which is the reality, Japan working at science, rivaling Western civilization, or Japan crawling on its hands and knees, and torturing miserable Koreans?

You make up your mind that it is a good idea to keep a big United States fleet in the Pacific.

New York city's street trust gave a one-day performance of an interesting little comedy, that might be entitled "Walk, Damn You!"

The street car trust has always robbed its public, its stockholders, its city. It wants more money. Its employes, organized in a brotherhood controlled by the corporation, wanted more money. The men struck with the gestures and cries of Italian bandits in a comic opera.

The company said, "We are helpless; we cannot run our cars. Help! Help!" At the end of twenty-four hours, the object lesson having been given and six millions of people having walked in the rain, the strike was called off and the collecting of nickels continued.

Salaries were raised and the company says the increase will cost the company five million a year. Perhaps it will. Now the Legislature, which is willing enough to oblige a big corporation, will be asked to increase the street car fare from five to eight cents.

This increase will give to the street car company in cash thirty million dollars a year more. Deduct from that the five million of increased wages that the employes will get, and you find that the one-day comic opera performed by the corporation and its faithful brotherhood of well-trained employes was about as profitable a show as was ever staged. Five millions a year for the workers. Twenty-five millions a year for the corporation. All good actors.

Senator Gronna of North Dakota gives to the powerful men of the country some advice that ought to (and will not) impress them.

Men at the top of the heap never listen. After somebody has kicked them off of the top, down to the bottom, they are ready to listen. But then it is too late.

Senator Gronna says that if the high cost of living does not come down there will be danger of revolution. He says, "We know of revolutions that have been justifiable."

We do, indeed. For instance the American Revolution, that established the United States; and the French Revolution that established the French Republic; and the revolution of Cromwell that started government by the people in England; and the revolution in Germany that got rid of the Hohenzollerns; and the revolution in Russia that got rid of the Romanoffs; and the revolution in China, producing the republic. In fact the revolution not justifiable is the exception. Men stand a great deal before they rebel.
